GC Steel rebuilds 'B' coke battery

The Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation has begun a major reconstruction of the "B" Coke Oven Battery which will improve the plant's dependability of coke supply and control of air quality.

The multi-million-dollar project, which will employ about 340 construction workers at its peak, should be completed by mid-1982, said Fred Steinkuehler, vice president-engineering. Designed as a virtual twin of the rebuilt "A" battery, "B" battery also will contain 45 ovens for making coke from coal for use as a fuel in the two blast furnaces.

"The rebuilt battery will include the latest technology for reducing emissions," said Dr. John Manda, vice president-environmental control. A variance for operation of "A" battery during the rebuild was granted in late June by the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

This was necessary because the physical layout of the coke oven facility prevents use of the pollution-control coke receiving car at times on "A" battery when construction is underway on "B" battery.

"We appreciate the IPCB's expeditious handling of our variances request which permitted this modernization project to proceed," said Dr. Manda.

Special emission-control features will include a dual-collecting main to help control and reduce emissions during the charging of coal into the top of the ovens. New doors of the latest design and newly constructed brick ovens will also provide a tighter seal against escaping gases. In addition, a new door machine will be installed. Improvements also will be made in the pusher machine, which will be com-

Madison ok's $4 million in bonds for plant expansion

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Southern Steel Supply Co., located in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park at Madison is planning a $4 million expansion.

The Madison City Council Tuesday night approved the sale of two different industrial revenue bond issues.

The first issue is for $2,750,000 for equipment and the second $1.25 million for expansion.

Attorney Michael Bilbrey explained the procedures under the Illinois Revised Statutes that allow cities to issue industrial revenue bonds.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk estimated that when the project is completed it will mean about 50 to 60 more jobs at the plant.

Preston M. Green is president and president of the company.

The company offices are located at 3401 Morganford Road, St. Louis. There is no obligation or burden on the city which will issue the Series B industrial bonds.

The First National Bank of St. Louis is the only purchaser of the bonds, and the First Granite City National Bank will serve as trustee.

The prior lease agreement with the steel fabricating company allows for expansion and improvement.

City Controller Al Hults explained to the council that the company's new plan would not only mean more jobs, but also an increase in the tax base.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the original $2 million facility in the Maeras Industrial Park was held on Monday, April 25, 1977.

It was estimated that construction and preparation for the expanded operation will take almost a year.

City to combine 3 departments; most salary cuts will be 20%

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

More painful measures to trim city expenses in Granite City were thrashed out during a long and, at times, heated meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

Primary actions taken by the council were:

1) To reduce the air pollution, inspection and engineering departments so they can be combined into one department.

2) Heard a proposed budget which would eliminate more than a dozen employees from the city's payroll, and end employment for 26 school crossing guards.

3) Voluntarily give up the $50 a month expense allowance for aldermen for an indefinite period of time.

4) Heard stern warnings from major

City aldermen vote voluntarily to give up $50 monthly expense accounts

Granite City industries that layoffs and closings are possible if the city imposes a utility tax.

5) Took a general fund budget of more than $6,247,955 under consideration, but with clear indications that some changes will have to be made.

Mayor Paul Schuler is out of town this week on vacation. Actions taken by the council in his absence will be subject to veto, if he sees fit when he returns.

The rollback of all city salaries to the April 1981 level remains in effect and will not be rescinded, Schuler has said. The payroll for July 15 already has been prepared at the April level and the checks are being written, the Press-Record learned.

Earlier published statements that the payroll was being rolled back to the 1980 level were misleading, since the statements referred to the 1980-81 fiscal year, Schuler said.

One official action taken by the council Tuesday night is to reduce the air pollution staff from four persons to two, cutting the inspection department from 2½ persons to one and cutting engineering from five to four. That will enable the combining of those three departments into one, possibly headed by City Engineer Monroe Brewer.

However, it will be the mayor's decision "who stays and who goes," Brewer told the Press-Record.

The police department's proposed budget would eliminate four dispatchers, four uniformed police officers and 26 school crossing guards, according to Chief of Police Ronald J. Veltzer. "Officer Friendly" Fred Hoff, man would return to uniformed duty; ending that program, he said. Veltzer contended there was no "fat" in his expenditures last year, for an order to reduce expenditures by 10 percent makes it impossible to avoid layoffs. "There are no pennies left in there. The only place I can take it (reductions) is salaries," he added.

Appeals court confirms convictions

By a 4 to 3 decision, the U.S. Court of Appeals, Seventh Circuit, in Chicago, has upheld the federal convictions of former Madison County Sheriff John Maeras, former sheriff's Lieutenant John Cooper, fund-raiser Lee Stoller of Nashville, Tenn., and Lee Stoller Enterprises, Inc.

The appeals court considered oral arguments Sept. 24, 1980, on points "too numerous to get into," according to Maeras' attorney, Bruce Cook. The appeal and arguments have been under consideration by the seven-judge panel since that time.

Cook said Maeras' conviction will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, "because it was such a close decision."

H. Carl Runge, attorney for Cooper, said he believes there are several good points which can be argued in the Supreme Court, but said Cooper will have to file "in forma pauperis" papers asking the court to appoint an attorney free for his appeal, since he cannot afford the legal fees involved.

Maeras and Cooper were convicted Feb. 25, 1979, on 23 counts of a federal racketeering indictment alleging kickbacks from towing companies, misuse of the mills and telephones for illegal fund-raising and violation of the RICO (Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization) statute.

Stoller was convicted the same day of one count of racketeering and 18 counts of fraud in connection with alleged fund-raising activities on behalf of the now-defunct Madison County Deputy Sheriff's Association.

Testimony by former deputy Gary Lee Burns, who told a grand jury that he personally delivered payoffs from Stoller to Maeras, was believed to have

Industry protests utility tax

With electric rates increasing an average of 19.9 percent as the result of the Illinois Commerce Commission's approval July 1 of a rate hike for Illinois Power Co., would a one-half cent utility tax for the Granite City municipal government be that much of an additional burden to industry?

That is a question being debated by members of the Granite City Council and by representatives of major industries in the city. The industries have answered with serious threats including layoffs and possible plant closings, the city council was told Tuesday night.

Mayor Paul Schuler has suggested that the city could draw itself out of a mounting municipal debt by imposing a utility tax on electricity, gas, water, telephones or any combination of those four utilities.

Mayor Schuler had planned to appoint "a blue ribbon committee" to meet with representatives of the city's major industries, but failed to appoint such a committee before he left on vacation early this week.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the city council's finance committee, "took it upon himself," in some aldermen's words, to lead a group in meeting with representatives of several industries.

Bowler agreed that he was not appointed to the proposed blue ribbon committee, but defended his meetings with the industrial representatives by saying that other aldermen were invited and "it is every alderman's job to meet with these people and find out what is happening," he contended.

Alderman Steven Salitch noted that American Steel has laid off 650 workers and is building a plant in Alabama now. He contended that with a utility tax, "There is a good chance they will close down and move."

Headed, Pre-Coat said it will move 50 to 60 miles out of Granite City, if we put on a utility tax.

They said that the industries are willing to work with the city, some offering to loan qualified people, to train city employees or to give other aid, if necessary, to avoid a utility tax.

They also said that an aluminum firm is hoping to build next to Pre-Coat Metals and two or three other firms are wanting to come into the city, including one which could use all of the aban-

3 are burned critically at GC Steel

Three Collinsville men were seriously burned by molten steel in an accident on the top floor of the new continuous slab caster unit at the Granite City Steel division of National Steel Corp. at 2:30 p.m. yesterday and they remained in critical condition this morning in the burn unit of St. John's Mercy Medical Center in Creve Coeur, Mo.

According to Granite City Steel's Public Relations Director Carl Baczymas, "An eruption of slag occurred in the mold, resulting in apparently serious burns to the men. He said there was no evidence of water coming into contact with the metal, although that could cause the type of eruption experienced." The cause of the accident is unknown at this time and the matter is under investigation by the company. Initial reports indicate damage to equipment was negligible," he said.

One of the rescue workers from the Granite City Fire Department noted that there were signs of a large "explosion." Speaking of the injured men, he said, "Their safety helmets were warped and distorted from the force of the thing."

Venice fire meeting delayed by township

The Venice city council at its meeting on Tuesday, July 14, may need the fire department to cool the tempers of the council members.

The problem is the fact that the Venice Township allegedly owes the city of Venice approximately $16,000 in unpaid fire calls.

Venice Township Supervisor Christ Paschoff told the Press-Record Tuesday that, "The meeting had to be called off because of previously scheduled meetings elsewhere. We may meet next Tuesday before the council meeting. I have to contact the Mayor (Tyronne Echols) and check with him."

Asked Tuesday morning when the debt will be paid, Paschoff said, "We'll pay it this month. Those people in Eagle Park just don't pay us when a fire is there. We don't have any written agreement to furnish fire protection or pay their bills."

Mayor Echols said, "I was told the meeting was called off because the township attorney was ill."

"In my opinion the township board could care less about the people in Eagle Park. That's who they are hurting," Echols said.

Two youths approximately 15 and 18 years of age were seen by her running from her mobile home as she returned. The two were both of slim build with brown hair.

Bank plans $10 million building

Louis E. Tiemann, president of Belleville National Bank, has announced plans for a new Belleville National Bank headquarters complex estimated to cost $10 million.

The headquarters complex would occupy property presently owned by the bank and by the City of Belleville in downtown Belleville.

Plans for the complex, presently referred to as Belleville National Center, were presented to the Belleville City Council at a regular council meeting.

The Belleville City Council was requested to favorably consider the plans, subject to negotiation of terms on an exchange of real property between the bank and the city.

Under the plans, the bank would exchange property it owns in the Belle-Valley Industrial Village for the 61 parking space, 26,220 square foot, parking lot presently owned by the City of Belleville immediately adjacent to the bank's present headquarters at 23 Public Square.

Commenting on the exchange of property, Tiemann noted that the exchange would provide the city with property significantly more marketable than the present parking lot. Tiemann also pointed out that no industrial revenue bond financing or tax relief would be required for the proposed headquarters complex.

"We believe that, working together, businesses such as Belleville National and the City of Belleville can bring real revitalization to the Belleville downtown business core," Tiemann emphasized.

Two Army commands lead blood drives

For donating more than 4,743 units of blood to the American Red Cross, two Army commands headquartered at the Federal Center, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., have been cited by the Missouri-Illinois Regional Blood Services. They are the Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command (AVRDCOM) and the Aviation Research and Development Command (AVRDCOM).

The commands, which combine their efforts in the blood drives conducted at the Federal Center, have ranked number one in the bi-state area for percentage of donations based on population, according to Joseph S. Sainato, director of the region's Donor Resources Development division. "That includes private industry as well as government," he said.

At special ceremonies at their command headquarters, Maj. Gen. Emil L. Konopnicki, TSARCOM commander, and Maj. Gen. Steven C. Stevens, commander of AVRDCOM, were presented certificates of appreciation for "outstanding cooperation."

The commands were cited for having met, or exceeded, blood drive goals from the date of their establishment, July 1, 1977, to the present.

The combined installation population includes 7,000 people. Approximately 5,000 are employed in TSARCOM and 2,000 in AVRDCOM. The commands sponsor five drives per year, scheduled primarily around holidays. "It is important," Sainato said, "to be able to depend on organizations such as these as a fixed base for blood donations to serve the blood requirements of the 151 hospitals in this region."

Industry protests

company would consider stopping payments on the $1.7 million committed to the city for construction of the 19th Street overpass and would demand that the $400,000 paid to date on the bonds be credited against the utility tax.

"This would further exacerbate the financial crisis facing the city, forcing the city to assume the remaining debt of $1.3 million," he noted.

"The whole community has benefitted immensely from an industrial base that has provided necessary taxation to our city with all of its attendant services. The tax rate paid by the citizens of Granite City has not been unduly high, compared to surrounding cities of like size — the benefit of having a good industrial base," the letter continued.

He asked for additional information on the city's financial problems and offered the company's help in helping find alternate methods to solve the problem without a utility tax.

Stack concluded, "Granite City Steel has been a good corporate citizen and recognizes our responsibility to the community. We are willing to assist you in any way possible, including loaned people or assisting along with other industries, in payment for a consultant or other method of assisting."

A letter also was read from William P. Decker, president and general manager of American Steel Foundries, Granite City Works, who said the industry has been here since the late 1800s and "has every expectation that it will continue its citizenship into the next century. As a citizen, it is recognized that we must pay our share of the cost of community and government services, as we have in the past."

"However, we do not believe that a utility tax is a fair method of distributing the cost of these services because it burdens industry with the majority of the cost, due to the fact that industry is the largest user of utilities."

The price of the products produced here has increased substantially in the last six years, while natural gas prices have risen about 142 percent and the cost of electrical energy has increased more than 75 percent. Another 22 percent in the price of natural gas is expected in the next six months while Illinois Power Co. is increasing electrical rates 19.9 percent.

"To add a tax on the price of commodities such as these that are experiencing rapid price increases when the consumption is essential to the making of our product is unfair. It makes us less competitive with other manufacturers in other states and areas that do not have these taxes."

"Even though the cost of utilities at ASF is only a fraction of the utility cost at Granite City Steel, it still represents a significant factor in our cost of operations," Monson explained.

He said ASF objects to a utility tax because once it is enacted, it is easy to perpetuate year to year, the tax rate could be increased up to five percent, and utility taxes "reduce the requirements for good control of government operations."

He offered to assist the city in finding alternative solutions to its financial problems.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman also contended that a utility tax would hurt "young people looking for homes and senior citizens who are squeezed by taxes." He contended that the city needs to balance the budget make cuts in personnel and spending. If necessary, "I believe what we did two Tuesdays ago (an order for an across-the-board 20 percent cut in expenditures) was the right thing."

Mayor Paul Schuler used his amendatory veto powers to avoid layoffs in the police, fire, ambulance and sewage treatment departments, but did order a 10 percent cut in expenditures in those departments.

Alderman Paul Fisk asked City Attorney John Papa if there was a chance that legislation could be changed to allow home rule cities to impose an earnings tax and Papa said the law now only allows cities with over 500,000 people (only Chicago) to impose earnings tax. Papa said it would take a year to 18 months to get the law changed, if at all.

Alderman Warren Decatur said that Granite City with a five percent utility tax and raised it to eight percent, representing a $30 per year average increase per household.

Testimony as Alderman Carl Kittel said he thought the Madison County state's attorney's office should investigate the behavior of some of the aldermen in their relationship to industry. He did not explain further.

Alderman Mac Warfield responded, "I think it is wrong to say that about an alderman when you've been here two months. Warfield later said he believes Kittel's remarks referred to aldermen who contacted leaders of local industries without being appointed to the blue ribbon committee."

Alderman Sam Whitmer, who was chairing the council meeting in the absence of Mayor Paul Schuler, called for peace. "We've got to work together here. Get your feathers ruffled, but do it quietly," Whitmer stated.

cut in expenditures from all funds. He said he believes two of his men will retire after Jan. 1 and will probably not be replaced.

Alderman Mac Warfield agreed, saying he believes the street lighting budget should be removed from the street department budget and a downtown parking lot budget should be removed from the police department budget.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the council's finance committee, contended that the garbage collection budget, which is supported by its own tax levy, be removed from the sanitation department budget and stand as a separate city budget item.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, who was chairing the meeting in the absence of Mayor Schuler, warned that removing garbage collection funds from one department's budget could result in pleas from other departments to remove unrelated expenses from their budgets and the city's central computer may not have the capacity to handle that many items.

Bowler contended the computer requires only three punch cards be inserted to make the change.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens argued against the change, saying, "What we raise for the tax levy for garbage would not come close to paying that contract and you know it. We would have to raise the sales tax, use federal revenue sharing or transfer from other funds."

Bowler made a motion that garbage collection be a separate budget and the aldermen approved it on a split voice vote.

Another motion by Bowler halting the $50 per month expense allowance for each alderman was approved on a 12 to 2 vote. Voting no were Aldermen Everett Morlen of the First Ward and Carl Kittel of the Third Ward.

The motion is to return the expense allowances to the city for an indefinite

Appeals court

U.S. Court of Appeals, a clerk there explained.

Lee Stoller Enterprises was fined $10,000 by Judge Ackerman when Stoller was first sentenced.

Appeals court judges who voted to affirm the convictions were Walter J. Cummings, Wilbur F. Pell Jr., Robert A. Sprecher and William J. Bauer.

Dissenting were Judges Luther M. Swygert and Richard D. Cudahy. Chief Judge Thomas E. Feltch dissented in part, according to the court spokesman.

Runge, who was the first defense attorney to obtain a copy of the decision of the Court of Appeals, said Tuesday the decision unanimously rejected defense arguments that a public entity such as a sheriff's department cannot violate the RICO act.

However, the judges divided in their opinion of the role played by Stoller and his firm and dissenting judges said that Stoller should have had a separate trial.

Runge said the federal prosecutors used Stoller's fund-raising activities, which were within the statute of limitations, to push back the time limitations and add earlier charges against Maeras and Cooper. "If the Supreme Court orders a new trial for Stoller, it would lose Maeras and Cooper to the statute of limitations," Runge contended.

He said it is usual for the court in "in forma pauperis" cases to appoint the same attorney the defendant has been using, so he expects that he will continue to represent Cooper. If the motion to have the court appoint an attorney is granted, The court has 90 days to act on that motion, he noted.

State's road spending doubles in decade, but much of it is inflation

Although mass transit problems in Illinois have received many headlines, State Comptroller Roland W. Burris says Illinois roads and highways will be in similar straits unless new ways are found to finance highway construction and maintenance.

Burris said that even though total appropriations to the Illinois Department of Transportation have doubled in the last 10 years, motor fuel tax revenues are dropping.

Federal highway aid cutbacks are anticipated, and diversion of road funds to other purposes is expected to climb to $145 million next year. The state has now spent two-thirds of the $1.9 billion transportation bond funds approved in 1971, he warned.

Average daily available balance in the state road fund in May was only $10 million, Burris added.

These negative signs are part of a special report on transportation funding in Illinois, released in the comptroller's monthly fiscal report.

The report also assesses Illinois' economic expectations from beefed-up federal defense spending.

The "sunbelt" states have a heavy edge over Illinois.

On the state fiscal front, spending continues to outpace revenues, he noted.

Here are some of the findings of the special transportation funding study:

—Total appropriations to the Department of Transportation climbed to $3.118 billion in fiscal year 1981, double the funding of 10 years ago. Seventy percent or $2.196 billion of the current funding was earmarked for highway and waterway construction.

A close-up look at highway spending in the last six years shows that District 6, the Springfield area west of Quincy, received the highest per capita share of highway funds ($867) in the six-year period.

—Road Fund revenues in fiscal 1980 reached $1.134 billion, an increase of $516 million or 83 percent over 1971. But motor fuel tax receipts have dropped steadily since 1974 and state sales taxes are (since 1980) being used to bolster the road fund.

How much money is diverted from the road fund? In fiscal 1981, $130 million was distributed to the Department of Law Enforcement, the Secretary of State and other agencies. In the new fiscal year that started July 1, the diversion total is expected to rise to $145 million.

—The state motor fuel tax, 7½ cents per gallon since Aug. 1, 1980, is losing ground against declining gasoline consumption and inflation. Gasoline tax receipts dropped $34 million in 1980 and were down another $20 million at the end of May this year.

Federal aid has been a mainstay of highway progress in Illinois, averaging $443 million a year for the last eight years. And more of these funds have been directed to bridge replacement and primary system roads. But the new federal budget indicates less highway money will be available ahead.

—What happened to the $1.87 billion transportation bond issue of 1971?

Series A bonds (earmarked for highway development): $1.862 billion authorized; $970 million committed by the end of May 1981. Current cost of paying off the bonds: $82 million per year.

Series B bonds (for mass transit and aviation purposes): $575 million authorized; $285 million committed by the end of May 1981. Current cost of paying off the bonds: $22 million per year.

A summary: Primary sources of road revenue are leveling off or declining; the state is spending more, because of inflation, but receiving less; alternative sources of revenue may be necessary, Burris concluded.

The Illinois economic picture projected by Burris makes it clear that "Illinois has been getting short-changed in federal defense contracts in the past and, based on past performance, cannot expect much better from the new defense-heavy federal budget unless the Illinois congressional delegation and the governor flex some muscle."

"Illinois, with 5.1 percent of the total U.S. population, had only 2.8 percent of the nation's defense-related employment in 1979.

"While our state had six percent of the nation's manufacturing work force, we received a meager 1.3 percent of the prime defense contracts, and only 1.9 percent of all military construction."

"Illinois clearly needs a bigger share of the defense dollar to help break the unemployment cycle in our state. The Illinois jobless rate in May was 8.7 percent, well above the national average of 7.6 percent.

At the end of the first 11 months of 1980-81, state revenues were running $188 million behind expenditures. Total revenues from all sources in the 11 months climbed to $7.314 billion, up $310 million or 7.5 percent over last year. Total expenditures increased 12.2 percent, spiraling to $7.502 billion, a gain of $813 million or 12.2 percent.

Measuring it another way, the available balance in all funds on May 31 was $1,240 billion, down $498 million or 28.7 percent from the same date last year.

Looking at state spending by "functions," all spending is up except that for enhancing the environment.

Sales tax receipts are down $51 million from last year at this time, but Lottery proceeds are up $51 million, Burris related.

Motion seeks to end Sedlack rental issue

Bob Thomas filed a motion in Madison County Circuit Court Wednesday which seeks an immediate summary judgment against Louise Sedlack to terminate her lawsuit against him for operating Sedlack Funeral Home in Madison, allegedly without her permission, while she owned the building.

Thomas says he has given the evidence to the court that Mrs. Sedlack cannot sustain her position, since she cashed rent checks for the building from Thomas, thereby accepting him as renter for the building.

Attached to that motion were copies of the cancelled checks, made out to Louise Sedlack and endorsed by her, in the amount of $1,200 for each month that Thomas occupied the Sedlack Funeral Home premises located at 615 Madison Ave., Madison. The first check was dated Sept. 29, 1980, and the last one was dated May 28, 1981.

Thomas vacated the premises on June 30, 1981, when he assumed operation of Lahey Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Madison.

A public statement prepared by Leon Scroggins, attorney for Bob Thomas, said, "It is the position of Thomas that the action by Louise Sedlack cannot be sustained under these circumstances."

Negotiations were conducted through Louise Sedlack's attorney in an attempt to settle this matter at an earlier date. These negotiations were met with complete rebuff by Louise Sedlack.

"Only recently has she sought possession of the premises through the forcible entry and detainer action now pending. Prior to that time, numerous proceedings were had in the family division and the probate division of Madison County. In each of those proceedings, Thomas prevailed."

"Thomas paid a fair rental value for the premises in question at all times," the evidence clearly shows that at no time were the premises occupied without full payment of what had been decided by the court to be the rental value.

"It is important now that this evidence be produced to the court and to the public, so that any contrary representation can be fully met."

Today's action by Thomas should terminate these proceedings," the statement concludes.

from the molten steel and was taken directly from the scene in a Granite City ambulance to the St. John's Mercy Medical Center.

Also taken directly to the Creve Coeur facility was Nicholas Novosel, 26, who suffered burns to an estimated 75 percent of his body, including his head, neck and abdomen.

The third injured man, Burleigh Hawk, 44, suffered burns to approximately 50 percent of his body and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where attempts were made to stabilize his condition and he was transferred to St. John's Mercy.

Firemen said the incident occurred on the operating floor of the slab caster, about three stories in the air, and the injured men had to be carried from the area by hand, since there was no elevator.

Emergency medical technicians and paramedics applied burn sheets and sterile solution to the burns before moving the three men.

Rescue efforts required all of the personnel of the city's main fire station, including firefighters and ambulance personnel. Approximately 10 city employees were assisted by eight to 10 Granite City Steel workers in removing the injured men from the building.

"Without the assistance of Granite City Steel's people, we could not have done it," said Assistant Fire Chief George Smolich of the rescue operation.

The continuous slab caster opened in March of this year. There, molten steel is poured into a mold to form a continuous ribbon of steel. After the steel solidifies, it is cut into individual slabs, Baczynas explained.

Here's a new word to add to your vocabulary: oenologist. Not really new at all, the term is derived from the Greek oinos, which means wine, and logos, meaning "science." Hence, an oenologist is the wine scientist or technologist. Every reputable winery employs an oenologist who has in most cases, virtually total responsibility for both vinifying and raising wines. He is a technician in the truest sense, whose knowledge of wine is certified by a national diploma, inasmuch as it falls to the oenologist to make the most delicate analysis on the grape, he must have more than a nodding acquaintance with chemistry, and his laboratory is usually second to none. And, of course, one of the first qualifications of an oenologist is to be a devoted oenophile... a person who loves wine and spends a great deal of time and attention on it.

Blair to seek GOP nod for treasurer

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — W. Robert Blair now intends to seek the Republican nomination for state treasurer. Blair, the former speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives and a frequent opponent of Gov. James Thompson, had talked for some time about opposing one of the governor's appointees, Attorney General Tyrone Fahner or Secretary of State Jim Edgar.

Although he has plenty of time to change directions, Blair is now headed toward an announcement for treasurer soon.

Up to this point, John Dailey of Peoria, a top aide to former Gov. Richard Ogilvie, had expressed the most interest in the GOP nomination for treasurer. Dailey's family has raised a significant amount of campaign money for Thompson, so the governor would be expected to support Dailey if a battle developed with Blair.

Four years ago, Blair announced for comptroller, and Thompson blocked his bid by having his cabinet director, John Castle, also seek the nomination. Castle won.

Obviously, there has been considerable friction between Blair and Thompson.

tween Blair and Thompson since that confrontation, but by going for treasurer instead of challenging a gubernatorial appointee it appears that Blair is moving toward a conciliation, albeit a temporary one.

Thompson may have enough trouble with his other candidates that he may decide it best to give Blair a pass for the treasurer's nomination. Several candidates are seriously considering the lieutenant governor's nomination on the assumption that Dave O'Neal will not seek re-election.

Fahner is certain to get primary opposition. More than one Republican is likely to run for comptroller. At this early stage, Edgar might be the only one to avoid a primary battle.

GAMBLING ARRESTS

Gambling charges were filed at 10:15 a.m. Friday in the 300 block of Weaver Street, Venice, against Donald Woolfolk, 20, of 1006 Market St., Venice, and Darryl C. Drayton, 25, of 810 Franklin St., Madison, after an alleged dice game. Each was released on $35 bail pending hearings July 31.

During the Fourth of July weekend, police responded to numerous complaints of fireworks being detonated in various residential neighborhoods.

Park board considers Milton as appointee

The Granite City Park Board of Commissioners is considering the appointment of Walter Milton, 47, of 3214 Washburn Ave., to the board seat vacated by David J. Nolan effective June 30.

Bowers, vice-president of marketing for the Southern Division of the Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling Co., was discussed as a possible replacement at the regular meeting of the board Wednesday night. He has not yet been contacted about the appointment, but is the board's likely choice if he accepts the position.

The appointee, whom ever it would be, will serve until the April 1983 regular election and at that time could decide to run for the two years remaining of the six-year term.

Nolan submitted his letter of resignation at the June 10 meeting of the board. Milton was the recipient of the Granite City Park District silver cup, the district's highest award for outstanding service to parks and recreation and has been appointed to the Illinois Recreation Council by Governor James Thompson. Prior to the regular meeting of the board of commissioners, a public

McKendree College board appointment

Warren G. Jennings of Granite City has been appointed to the McKendree College Board of Trustees by the Southern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Gen. J. TenBrink, McKendree president, announced the appointment this week.

Jennings retired in 1979 after 35 years of public service as a school superintendent in Metropolis, West Frankfort, Jerseyville and Payson, all in Central and Southern Illinois.

He also served for six years as a school superintendent in the U.S. Department of Defense Overseas School Program in the Middle East and Germany.

Since September, 1980, Jennings has been a sales associate with Century 21, Royce Realty, in Granite City.

He and his wife, the former Lorelei Baker of Johnston City, Ill., are active members of Niederrhein United Methodist Church.

They are the parents of two grown children, Mrs. Mary (Daria) Coppedge of Granite City and Phillip Jennings of Galesburg, Ill., and have a grandson, Nathan Coppedge of Granite City.

Jennings has served in various positions in United Methodist churches throughout Central and Southern Illinois as chairman of the Council on

He also has worked with past presidents and placement directors in interviewing and hiring McKendree College graduates in the teaching profession.

Bernard Royce, broker and owner of Century 21, Royce Realty, commented, "I am extremely proud of the fact a member of the Century 21 realtors' organization has been appointed to a position of such honor and prestige."

Wall Street Journal — President Reagan's smashing budget victories carry a double bonus — new political momentum and an even firmer grip on economic policy.

The president's triumphs in the Senate and the House bolster White House claims that a "new coalition" of Republicans and conservative Democrats has emerged as the dominant force in Congress.

And those "victories" guarantee that Mr. Reagan can reshape the budget more decisively than any president in decades.

The last serious obstacle to White House budget policy collapsed June 25 when the Democratic House voted 217 to 211 to cut $35.6 billion from the fiscal 1982 budget and as much as $145 billion through fiscal 1984.

Linked with the Senate's 80-15 approval of a similar House vote, the House vote allows President Reagan to scale back — and in some cases, to kill — more than 200 domestic programs ranging from food stamps to education and health.

The House-Senate conference to iron out differences, which once threatened to run well into the fall, will be much simpler now that both houses of Congress have essentially adopted the Reagan program.

"The conference problem is 10 times more solvable now," declared Sen. William Stanton (R, Ohio), the senior Republican on the House Banking Committee. "The differences have really been narrowed," agrees a Senate budget expert, adding: "It's a cinch the conference will be a lot easier."

Jubilant presidential aides lost little time in attempting to parlay Mr. Reagan's budget breakthrough into even broader gains.

One result, predicted Budget Director David Stockman, should be a major favorable effect on attitudes and expectations around the country, particularly on financial markets.

The White House has been disappointed in the tepid market response to the president's economic proposals so far, but attributed it to skepticism that Congress would actually go along.

But the White House budget victory didn't come without a price. To hold northeastern Republicans in line, the White House promised more money for Conrail, student loans, Medicaid and mass transit operating subsidies.

To win the crucial support of Southern Democrats, the White House apparently promised it wouldn't oppose new sugar-price supports.

As a congressman, Mr. Stockman led the fight against such supports.

And to placate congressmen from Tennessee, the White House went along with more money for the Clinch River fast breeder nuclear reactor.

By rough estimates, the White House had to give away as much as $9 billion to win about $30 billion in savings over three years in addition to the savings that House committees already had approved.

Although the House and Senate budget packages are broadly similar, the conference process promises to be tedious.

It also will be one of the most unwieldy in history, probably including 150 or more legislators who will break into subgroups to haggle over hundreds of pages of detailed legislative changes.

One major task of the conference will be to decipher and clarify the legislation that was rammed through the House in an atmosphere of extraordinary confusion.

Whatever their defects, the rejected Democratic cuts at least had been accompanied by detailed reports and explanations. In contrast, the triumphant Republican substitute, pasted together the night before the vote, included hardly any explanations at all. Estimates of the fiscal 1982 savings in the substitute package ranged from $35.6 billion to $38.2 billion.

"We are here to complete a shameful charade of a political process gone mad," protested Chairman James Jones (D, Okla.) of the House Budget Committee. "No one person here knows what is in the massive document before us."

The 1½-inch-thick Republican bill was full of penciled-in additions and crossed-out deletions, and even included the name and office telephone number of a woman staffer at the Congressional Budget Office.

Individually, the Republicans came close to killing a decades-old program that allows the blind to maintain candy stands in federal buildings.

And as Democrats were looking the other way, the Republicans did kill, at least temporarily, the National Science Foundation, while knocking out research funds from three other agencies.

Additional "sleepers" are bound to be discovered as the conference committee does its work.

The conference will have to resolve basic differences in several important areas. Even in their moment of triumph, House Republicans decided they lacked the votes to reshape a big part of the budget that is under the jurisdiction of the House Energy and Commerce Committee.

So the Republicans reluctantly adopted a budget-cutting package drafted by Chairman John Dingell of Michigan and the Democrats on the panel.

The Dingell package doesn't include a permanent cut in the Medicaid payments to the states, as the White House wanted and the Senate approved. Instead, it merely orders a three-year reduction in outlays.

The Republicans had hoped to eliminate Amtrak operations outside the Boston-to-Washington corridor, but the Dingell package would keep Amtrak alive in some other parts of the country.

In another difference, the Dingell package would permanently remove from the budget financing for filling the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Republicans sought to keep the reserve's financing out of the budget only through fiscal 1984.

House Republicans also had hoped to strip the Consumer Product Safety Commission of its independent status and put the agency into the Commerce Department. The Dingell package keeps the agency separate.

AGRICULTURE
The House and Senate are farther apart in this area than in most others. The House passed measure, a package developed by the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee and accepted by House Republicans, for the most part rejects the administration's blueprint that the Senate basically accepted.

The Senate version, which rewrote legislation, would save $943 million in fiscal 1982 by charging farmers interest on grain-storage loans and boosting checks for such services as grain inspection.

The House measure claims to save $373 million through a 4.6 percent across-the-board cut in many Agriculture Department programs, including soil and water conservation, forestry and rural development. But because the House measure doesn't alter the underlying laws, some Republicans think much of the savings are illusory.

The House package trims dairy price-support spending by $449 million to $1.4 billion in fiscal 1982.

The Senate won't deal with price supports until it gets to a separate major farm bill later this summer, but the budget measure it approved assumes the farm bill will reduce supports $888 million.

Both the House and Senate versions would put far fewer dollars into block grants than the President wanted.

Neither would remove any much federal control from states and localities as Mr. Reagan sought.

The House, like the Senate, combines two dozen education programs into a single block grant with a fiscal 1982 authorization of $500 million.

This is far below the $4 billion grant the White House wanted, mainly because the $3.5 billion program aiding poor children remains a separate program.

Both budget packages consolidate more than a dozen health programs into three block grants and state freedom to switch money out of such categories as community health programs.

HOUSING
The House, slightly more generous than the Senate's, would authorize 162,500 subsidized housing units in fiscal 1982, compared with 150,000.

The House version lacks a Senate-approved provision denying rent-subsidy money to cities that impose rent controls on any new or vacant apartments.

The House consolidates the politically popular Urban Development Action Grant program into a broader block grant program; the Senate kept the urban grants as a separate program.

EDUCATION
Besides consolidating some education programs into block grants, the House and Senate budget packages tighten up student aid and "impact" assistance to school districts containing federal installations.

The House would impose a means test on applicants for federally guaranteed student loans, saving an estimated $1.3 billion; the Senate would make it hard for any family earning more than $25,000 to participate in the program.

Both versions halve impact aid to $400 million.

ENERGY, ENVIRONMENT
Funds for synthetic-fuels development would be trimmed but the controversial Clinch River breeder reactor would remain uncashed under both packages.

The Senate wants to trim spending for energy research, while the House wants to all but eliminate it. Water cleanup and sewerage grants would be sharply curtailed.

Both houses ignored the president's request for a moratorium in acquiring state and federal parkland, but trimmed spending in this area.

FEDERAL PAY
Federal employees would be limited to a 4.8 percent pay increase next year, instead of 13 percent, in both the House and Senate packages. This would save almost $7 billion.

The House would further limit raises to 7 percent in fiscal 1983 and 1984. The Senate didn't act on White House requested ceilings for those years.

Both packages would substitute annual for twice-a-year cost-of-living adjustments in benefits for federal workers.

HEALTH
The two houses disagree on how to curb Medicaid costs.

The Senate package would let federal payments rise 9 percent in fiscal 1982 over 1981, more generous than the administration's proposed 5 percent ceiling.

The House version rejects a ceiling altogether and recommends temporary curbs on Medicaid expenditures. States with effective hospital cost-control programs would be affected as severely as states lacking them.

Both bills tighten up Medicare regulations, trimming payments to individuals and hospitals.

HOUSING
The House, slightly more generous than the Senate's, would authorize 162,500 subsidized housing units in fiscal 1982, compared with 150,000.

The House version lacks a Senate-approved provision denying rent-subsidy money to cities that impose rent controls on any new or vacant apartments.

The House consolidates the politically popular Urban Development Action Grant program into a broader block grant program; the Senate kept the urban grants as a separate program.

Both measures envision $500 million for the urban development program in fiscal 1982.

JOB
Both bills wipe out the $3.8 billion public service jobs program, while cutting back surviving parts of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

NUTRITION
Food-stamp spending levels set by former President Carter are cut more than $1.4 billion, or 11 percent, in the House bill.

The Senate cut is deeper — as much as $1.9 billion.

Under both measures, about one million of 23 million recipients would lose their food stamps. But the Senate measure sets tighter eligibility requirements for inhabitants of Puerto Rico, and deeper cuts in nationwide food-stamp benefits.

Both measures cut about $1.5 billion, or 35 percent, from school lunch and child nutrition programs in fiscal 1982, but the cuts are distributed differently.

The House slashes deeper into lunch subsidies for middle and upper-income children.

The Senate cuts deeper into subsidies for poor children during the regular school year and summer.

PENSIONS, WELFARE
The minimum Social Security benefit of $122 a month is eliminated in both measures, affecting an estimated 1.6 million retirees who paid Social Security taxes for only a few years and thus qualify for less than this amount.

Both bills phase out benefits for students aged 18 to 21 who are dependents of Social Security recipients.

Both cut about $1 billion from a major welfare program, Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Eligibility requirements and accounting procedures would be tightened and more recipients would be required to offset at least some of their benefits through public-service jobs.

TRADE
The Export-Import Bank would be able to lend about $5 billion next year under both versions, more than the $4.4 billion the White House sought.

Both bills tighten the trade-adjustment assistance program, generally requiring that workers cannot receive these benefits for longer than they receive state unemployment benefits, and that workers show that imports are a "substantial cause" of their unemployment.

TRANSPORTATION
Both measures authorize $735 million for the federally-aided National Railroad Passenger Corp. in fiscal 1982.

But the House allows Amtrak to defer $82 million in interest payments on government loans.

The Senate trims only $10 million in budget authority for Consolidated Rail Corp., the big government-subsidized Northeast railroad.

House Republicans had hoped for substantially deeper cuts. But these hopes faded with House adoption of the budget-cutting package drafted by Democrats on the Energy and Commerce Committee, and with last-minute White House concessions to northeastern Republicans.

News notes

The Edwardsville City Council voted Tuesday night to acquire a historic preservation easement on the old Madison County jail building, as a way of preventing demolition of the 1870 structure. The County Board wants to raze the jail. A new injunction will be sought, one currently in effect expires July 16.

Steelworkers and steelworkers will decide by the end of this year whether to apply their no-strike approach to 1983 contract talks. Their experimental negotiating agreement was not automatically renewed in the 1980 bargaining.

With the April 3 tornado causing many splits and cracks in the roof of the new Madison County jail, it has not been determined whether the county or the roofing contractor is liable for the cost of repairs.

Bank officials call for unity

After decades of disputes concerning the structure of banking in Illinois, the Illinois Bankers Association (IBA) has issued a call for "unity" in the banking fraternity.

Recognizing passage of a liberal multi-bank holding company bill for the state, the largest banking association in Illinois says it is time to lay aside differences and to "band together once again for the good of the people of Illinois who use banking services."

James A. Fitch, president of the IBA and president of the South Chicago Savings Bank, sets "unification of a battle-weary industry" as his main objective.

"The time has come for bankers to put their differences aside and to get back to the job of serving the people's financial requirements."

"Federal regulations prevent banks from offering competitive rates to savings rates. Now that the dust is settling from the fight between money center banks and those whose focus is in the community, bankers have to pool resources to get Washington to give bank customers competitive savings rates.

"Our customers don't want us squabbling among ourselves. They would rather see us going to bat for them in the halls of Congress and in the recesses of regulatory agencies to bring loan rates down and interest on deposits up. Bankers fighting bankers for their own purposes does nothing to instill public confidence in the industry," Fitch concluded.

Governor James R. Thompson has signed into law legislation authorizing multi-office banking in Illinois through bank holding companies and community service facilities.

The legislation, SB 578, sponsored by Sen. Roger Keats, Kenilworth, and Rep.

James McPike, Alton, divides the state into five banking regions.

Under the new law, bank holding companies can acquire additional banks in the holding company's home region or in any one contiguous banking region.

It also permits a bank to establish one new community service facility in the county where the bank is located, or outside the county as long as it is within 10 miles of the home bank.

The signing on July 3 "opens a new generation of progressive banking reform in Illinois," according to James B. Watt, president of the Association for Modern Banking in Illinois.

"This new law will lay the cornerstone," Watt said. "For open competition within the state's banking industry. The governor's action has renewed the spirit of the free enterprise system for Illinois bankers."

AMBI, a trade association with 275 members statewide, representing over 90 percent of total bank assets in Illinois, was the only banking association in the state to support the measure.

The new law, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1982, will increase to three the number of limited service facilities permitted for each bank.

Such facilities are limited to receiving deposits, cashing and issuing checks, drafts and money orders, changing money and receiving payments on existing indebtedness.

Watt said, "The introduction of the multi-bank holding company concept, permitting the affiliation of one bank with other banks in limited, regional areas of the state, will provide a major step also for competitive equity for the Illinois banking industry with other financial intermediaries."

"One of the major beneficiaries of this new banking climate will be the consumer, who will now be able to conduct banking transactions with banks who must provide the best service possible in relation to their competitors," he said.

Charles L. Daily, chairman of AMBI, said, "Until now, we have been surrounded by states which already have multi-bank holding companies or some other form of multi-office banking — Missouri, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa and Kentucky. Illinois is one of three states which have lacked multi-office bank structure authority."

"With the advent of interstate banking just over the horizon nationally, the Illinois banking industry would have been on the brink of disaster if the General Assembly had not passed this legislation and the governor had not signed it into law."

"Out-of-state banks would have been able to affiliate with Illinois banks, but our own banks would not have been able to affiliate with other banks in the state," he said.

Daily, chairman of the Mid-America Bank and Trust Co. of Edgemoor, East St. Louis, said, "Under this law, the goals of a holding company bank will remain community-oriented and assets will be used for the development of the city or town in which it is located. The basic management will remain intact, with local control by a local board of directors."

Major features of SB 578 stipulate that: —Five holding company regions will be established statewide, and a multi-bank holding company can acquire banks only within the holding company's home region and only one contiguous region.

—After Jan. 1, 1982, newly chartered banks cannot be acquired until they have been in existence for ten years.

—A multi-bank holding company will not be able to charter any new banks. As noted, the legislation also provides for one additional limited service facility for a total of three. Banks are presently allowed two facilities, one within 1,500 feet and another within 3,500 yards of the bank.

The additional limited community service facility cannot be established closer than one mile from the home office of another bank. Madison County is in Region Five, which includes all of Southern Illinois north to a line along the northern borders of Calhoun, Jersey, Madison, Bond, Rayette, Effingham, Jasper and Crawford counties.

REUNION GIFT. Alderman Casmer Skubish presents a centerpiece to Mrs. Bethel Davis, co-founder and superintendent at the Gospel Mission. Also present at the reunion is her daughter, Madge D. O'Connor, of Arlington, Va.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.

- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnuck's grocery.

John 16:30 "It is finished."

These were the last words that Jesus uttered in his life. And perhaps they are the most powerful words he ever spoke.

Christ was not referring to his own life when he said, "It is finished." Because one had the power to take his life from him. He alone had that power. Not only to lay it down but to take it up again!

The finished work of Jesus was this: the sins of mankind were now atoned for. The Father's will had been carried out. Satan had been eternally defeated never again to have power against the people of God!

Christ said, "Now, it is finished," and he could have as well said, "Now, it begins."

Will you let God's work begin in you? Today.

Illinois jobless benefit, tax changes top $497 million

Legislation signed July 3 to revise the state's unemployment insurance system calls for $497.3 million in benefit and tax changes.

The package was settled on June 18 after a two-day meeting at the Executive Mansion of business and labor executives along with leaders from the General Assembly. Goal was to deal with problems facing the jobless pay system.

"I am very pleased to sign this bill, a measure that was greatly needed. At a time when every possible action to improve the state's business climate is necessary, the bi-partisan support this legislation received will greatly help in aiding Illinois' economy," Governor James R. Thompson commented.

"This bill will not only reinforce the original purpose of the unemployment insurance system by eliminating significant inequities, but it will have a real and positive impact on the fiscal condition of the state's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund," the governor said.

Illinois now owes the federal government $1.4 billion and that figure could have risen to $2 billion if changes in the unemployment insurance system were not made. That amount would have had a "devastating impact" on Illinois, the governor contended.

The legislation was approved 57-0 by the Senate, June 29 after being passed by the Illinois House of Representatives by a 158-6 vote June 26.

Included in the agreement reached at the Executive Mansion and contained in the bill the governor signed is a six-month freeze on the maximum benefit amount for unemployed workers, beginning in July 1981.

A series of tax changes in the bill includes an increase in the minimum tax rate from 0.1 percent to 0.2 percent.

The taxable wage base will also be raised, from $6,500 to $7,000.

The impact of these and several other tax changes is $165.8 million. As a result, the trust fund is projected to achieve a balanced cash flow by the end of the 1982 calendar year.

In addition to the tax changes outlined, Illinois employers are paying $75 million for the federal penalty tax, which goes toward repaying the state's existing jobless pay debt.

The total amount from the tax changes and penalty tax is $246.8 million.

North band students achieve awards

Eighteen members of the Granite City High School North Band Department achieved honors while spending a week in band camp on the campus of Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

North students have attended the camp since 1974, according to Robert D. Todoroff, band director, who accompanied the group and participated in the Master Show Design class.

Band members taking part were Kathy Rakowski and Julie Hay, who were enrolled in the drum major segment, Lisa Kalka, Rita Gula, Karen Guth, Carla Niemeyer and Amy Patterson, rifle camp.

Denise Niemeyer, Cheryl Hanks, Denise Rea, Kathy Galbreath, Rebecca Jackson, Johanna Davis, Debbie Hundley, Robyn Sicking, Rebecca Oropeza, Kim Green and Karen Hurlbrink, flag camp.

The students spent 45 hours in classroom work during the week and received six individual and group evaluations during the period.

Each student also was video-taped and given an evaluation based upon the filmed routine.

Field Conductor Kathy Rakowski placed third overall in a field of 61 students for outstanding accumulative scores.

Lisa Kalka and Rita Gula, rifle captains, along with Cheryl Hanks, flag captain, received the "top 10" soloist awards.

Miss Kalka also earned a first place trophy for her first place in competition, marking her as the outstanding performer in the flag and rifle camp.

Special achievement awards were given to Rita Gula, Lisa Kalka, Denise Niemeyer and Denise Rea.

Two superior performer awards went to Karen Guth, Carla and Denise Niemeyer, Denise Rea and Cheryl Hanks.

Superior performance and best performance of the week awards were presented to Kathy Galbreath, Robyn Sicking, Rebecca Jackson, Rebecca Oropeza, Johanna Davis, Debbie Hundley, Karen Hurlbrink and Kim Green.

"It was an outstanding week with an exceptionally fine staff of instructors who taught our North Guard flag and rifle members the latest developments in their respective fields," Director Todoroff said.

"We are expecting to show a new look this fall when the 'Marching Band' from Steeler Land" takes to the field during the half-time presentations.

"When our drum majors and auxiliaries can best students from some of the finest marching bands in Kentucky and Tennessee, I know we have a lot to be proud of in the caliber of students found in Granite City," Todoroff added.

Aluminum recycling continuing

Recycling aluminum still can provide cash for summer vacations and help clean up the recyclers' home community by reducing litter, according to the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co.

It pays the public a minimum of 28 cents per pound for all-aluminum cans and foil and 25 cents per pound for miscellaneous aluminum.

The Reynolds Metals subsidiary purchases all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum such as pie plates, aluminum foil, frozen food and dinner trays, and dip, pudding and meat containers.

It also buys other aluminum items such as siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing, which can be cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and bundled.

Aluminum castings, including pots and pans, power lawnmower housings and barbecue grills, are also purchased and recycled.

The local collection center is at the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, Nameoki and Pontoon Roads, every Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

MULTIPLE CHARGES

Roy Sanders, 87, of 2601 Kirkpatrick Homes was halted by police at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road at 11:40 p.m. Monday on charges of reckless driving, speeding 65 miles an hour and transporting beer. Donald D. Dawson, 19, of 2323 Nameoki Road was charged with possessing beer.

More flexible bus scheduling is being sought

Ways to achieve more flexibility in scheduling bus routes and drivers are being sought to improve efficiency and economy, Carl E. Mathias, a Bi-State Development Agency commissioner, told Madison-Venice Rotarians on Wednesday.

A goal is to have more buses available during peak hours and fewer when there is only limited demand, it was explained.

An arbitration decision is expected in a few weeks on transit employees' pay for the coming year, the speaker added.

Efforts are being made to maintain essential bus routes but to phase out where the costs far outweigh their utilization, Mathias said.

Problems listed include St. Louis County diversion of some transportation funds from bus subsidies to road construction; scheduled elimination within a few years of annual $17 million federal grants for Bi-State bus operations; and uncertainty about the extent of future grants to buy buses.

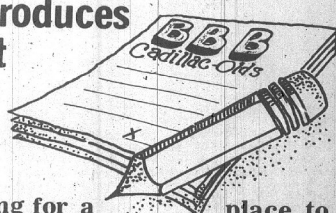

There are 987 buses, and 26 were replaced with new buses this year, Mathias related.

Bi-State Parks Airport has become self-sufficient financially, the club was told, and a trash-to-energy project may be launched soon.

Madison City Comptroller Al Hudzik introduced the speaker, William Badger, president.

Shot fired at park watchman

An investigation into an incident in which a boater on Horseshoe Lake after Lake Park's 10 p.m. closing fired a shot from an apparently heavy caliber gun at an unarmed watchman is underway by the Illinois Department of Conservation officers.

The incident occurred last week as the watchman, Daniel Fox, flashed the spotlight of his truck on a boat along the west bank of the fishing area near Bend Road as he was checking the lake shortly after closing time. Horseshoe Lake Park is closed to activity after 10 p.m.

According to Lynn Wright, park superintendent, Fox was uninjured and fled the scene. His truck was damaged by one bullet.

Wright said the incident is upsetting. It has been reported to the Madison County Sheriff's department and I have ordered an investigation by Conservation Department police.

Wright said all parts of the park, including the lake, are closed after 10 p.m., but many privately owned sections of the lakefront are not fenced.

Park officials have been attempting to track down and arrest boaters reported on the lake at night, "but mostly unsuccessfully because of the large area we have to cover," Wright said.

CHARGE DISMISSED

A state charge of felony theft against Doyle R.
McCallie, 28, of 1347

dismissed in June by Circuit Judge A. A. Matossian. The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation had alleged that an offense occurred May 13. The dismissal was based on a motion filed by the Madison County state's attorney.

unknown number of pennies from the home of Sharon Melton, 1640 State St., it was discovered last week. The intruder broke glass in a

July gardening

By CHRIS DOLL, Area Gardening Adviser

Gardening in July means harvesting of many crops, caring for all growing crops and the planting of some fall vegetables.

It is still a busy month for gardeners and here are some of the expected happenings and tasks:

—Enjoying home-grown sweet corn. In general, the shorter the time interval from field to table, the better the flavor. Early-season varieties are good, but not as good as the mid-season varieties yet to come. Home gardeners have time to make another planting or two for fall harvest.

—Sidedress long-season crops with nitrogen (33-0-0 or other formulations) at the rate of 1 pound per 100 feet of row. Keep the fertilizer off the foliage. Irrigate or cultivate immediately following the treatment.

—Grapes grow vigorously in the hot, humid weather, and a heavy foliage cover favors rapid growth of diseases. Healthy plants mean good fruit, so bi-weekly sprays of captan or ferbam should keep diseases in check. Add methoxyphor, sevin, or malathion for insect control at the same time.

—Cabbage is maturing and it will store in the garden for a week or two. Head splitting can be reduced by using a spade to cut roots on two sides of the plant. This reduces water uptake from rain or irrigation.

—Cabbage worms are most effectively controlled by using bacillus thuringiensis, a non-toxic bacterial spray sold as Dipel and Thuricide. Use according to directions on the package.

—The second peach borer spray is due July 10. Mix carbaryl (Sevin) at 3 tablespoons per gallon and spray the trunks and crotches thoroughly.

—Tomatoes may show early blight and blossom-end rot. Early blight is when the lower leaves show spotting, turn yellow and drop off; spray or dust with tomato fungicides. Blossom-end rot infections appear when ripening; mulching is the best control.

—Keep trees, plants and gardens watered as needed. Apply enough water to soak into the root zone rather than very light waterings. Remember, an inch of water normally moistens six inches of soil, and it takes 0.6 gallons of water per square foot to equal an inch of rain.

—Cucumber vine wilt this year is generally from bacterial wilt. This disease is carried in the bodies of cucumber beetles and the plants are inoculated when the beetles feed on the cucumber plants. Kill the beetles before they feed by applications of carbaryl on a 5-day interval and the wilt will be prevented.

—Make another planting of cucumbers, summer squash, and snap beans early in the month. Seed the fall garden crop of beans, broccoli, cabbage, spinach, and turnips made late in the month.

—Harvest onions when the tops have fallen over. Begin the curing process by undercutting the bulbs and leaving them lay for 24-48 hours. Then tie in bundles of 10-15 onions and cure by hanging in a dry sheltered area.

—Spray ripening peaches and plums with either benomyl, captan, or sulfur every week to reduce brown rot (the soft rot of ripening fruits) at harvest time.

—Harvest fruits for dessert and processing. Blackberries, blueberries, summer apples, apricots, peaches and plums make up the fruit list for the month.

—Spray black raspberry plants and sour cherry trees with a fungicide immediately after harvest to control late season fungus diseases.

—Keep weeds under control and don't allow them to make seed. Any weed that has formed seeds should be removed from the garden area.

PARKED AUTO LOOTED
A $200 set of hand tools, an $80 radar detection device and a $52 citizen band radio were stolen from the parked auto of Dave Clark, 909 McCambridge Ave., Madison, near Edison Avenue in downtown Granite City last week.

'Metroscope' new SIUE radio program

In an effort to bring more depth and diversity to its local news and public affairs programming, WSIE-FM will introduce a new program, "Metroscope."

WSIE-FM (88.7) is the public service radio station operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Premiering Monday, July 13 at 5:30 p.m., "Metroscope" will be a 30-minute program based, in large part, on the successful "All Things Considered" format used by National Public Radio to cover national and world events.

WSIE-FM News Director Jill Wagenblast describes the program as "unique to the listening audience."

"No other station can really provide the kind of coverage we plan to offer on a daily basis. Certainly, we all can get headline versions of the news from the local media, but only stations such as ours, being a Public Radio affiliate, can afford to go into the depth we will on issues of community importance," Ms. Wagenblast said.

Along with the news director, Paul Schankman and Jim Siekmann will produce and co-anchor the show, which will be heard week nights at 5:30 p.m.

Said Schankman, "I think what really makes Metroscope unique is that it will give as much time as needed to provide a thorough explanation of local issues, including what impact those events will have on the lives of the listener. Too often, the media leaves that aspect of Metroscope as innovative as possible.

For two months, Schankman said, the WSIE-FM news staff has been working

Flowers & Gifts

by Ron Kelih

The most beautiful member of the Rosaceae family, the rose (Rosa), originated in Asia Minor. It is one of the oldest flowers in cultivation and was grown 5,000 years ago in the ancient gardens of western Asia and northeastern Africa.

Roses have always been the symbolic flower of beauty, youth and love. They have been mentioned in poetic works since the dawn of civilization. In ancient times, a rose was attached to the ceiling of council chambers as an indication that everyone present was sworn to secrecy. It was called "sub-rosa," or under the rose. The "rosette," which decorates ceilings of rooms today, is an unconscious use of this ancient emblem of secrecy.

Roses are one of the most popular flowers to communicate a feeling. Whether at a funeral or a wedding their beauty expresses love and respect, sometimes better than words. Come to BETTY AND BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833 for all your floral needs. We get roses twice weekly from Four Seasons in Lincoln, Illinois by refrigerated truck. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

FLOWER TIP: Rose prices vary according to the season, availability and demand.

Mansfield-Reid

Miss Deborah Lee Reid and John Joseph Mansfield exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony on June 12 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. Matching candelabra with white carnations, springer and touches of aqua floral clusters provided the sanctuary decorations. The white carpeted aisle was illuminated with burning tapers in standard festooned with white bows and greenery.

The Rev. Louis Frick officiated at the double ring service at 7 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony Organist, Lisa Groothuis accompanied Dr. Earl Miller, an uncle of the bride, as he sang, "The Sabbath Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Serving as candlelighters were Jenni and Kimberly Miller, cousins of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reid, 2450 Waterman Ave. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mansfield, resides at 364 Lincoln Ave., Cliffside Park, N.J.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length white organza gown fashioned with an empire bodice of Chantilly lace and pearls featuring a Queen Anne neckline and full bishop sleeves cuffed with matching lace.

Her semi full skirt fell softly into a chapel train of lace tiers.

She chose a lace cap to secure her fingertip veil of bridal illusion also edged with Chantilly lace. Her bouquet was a cascade of white silk lilies, ranunculus, stephanotis and larkspur.

Maid of honor was Miss Kathleen Byrne and the bridesmaids included Mrs. James (Terry) Douglass, a sister of the bride, Miss Christine Fulhorst; and Mrs. David (Dana) Reid, the bride's sister-in-law.

They selected identical aquamarine giana knit dresses designed with blouson bodices with spaghetti straps and complemented with chiffon blouson jackets with point d'esprit yokes.

Each attendant carried a cascade of silk dusty rose and aquamarine roses intermingled with baby's breath and stephanotis.

The groom chose Steven Spinola as best man. Robert Mansfield, a brother of the groom, Craig Havens and Mark Trolinger were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Mick Moran and Mark Forbes. Ty Douglass, a nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer.

After the church rehearsal, members of the wedding party were entertained at a dinner given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid.

The newlywed couple received guests at a reception held at Lewis and Clark Restaurant in East Alton.

A graduate of South High School, the bride also graduated from Eastern Illinois University.

The groom was graduated from Cliffside Park High School in Cliffside Park, and from St. Louis College of Pharmacy in St. Louis. He presently is employed at Rogal of Revco Drug in Maple, Mo., where they will make their home.

They took a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri.

Social security checks increase

About 36 million persons receiving monthly social security payments, and about 4 million receiving monthly supplemental security income (SSI) payments saw an 11.2 percent increase in their July checks.

The difference reflected the annual automatic cost-of-living raise designed to offset the effects of inflation. The increase means that the retired worker who received a benefit equal to the average monthly payment of $337 before this month, now receives $374 a month. The maximum benefit for the worker retiring in 1981 at age 65 is $752.90, up from $677. The average survivors benefit to a widow with two minor children is $870, up from $782. For a disabled worker and family, the average payment is $812, up from $731.

An individual, who received the maximum monthly Federal SSI benefit of $238 now gets $264.70, and a couple who received the maximum monthly payment of $357 now gets $397.

In 1972, the social security law was amended to provide for automatic benefit increases whenever the Consumer Price Index rose 3 points or more from one year to the next. This eliminated the need for periodic action to keep benefits from lagging behind increases in the cost of living. It also removed the pressure and anxiety of living on fixed incomes from social security beneficiaries. The first automatic cost-of-living increase in July 1975 was 8 percent. Since then benefits were increased 6.4 percent in 1976, 5.9 percent in 1977, 6.5 percent in 1978, 9.3 percent in 1979, and 14.3 percent in 1980.

The estimated fiscal year

1982 cost of the social security benefit increase to the trust funds is $15.4 billion. The SSI increase will cost an estimated $600 million, paid from general funds of the Treasury.

SSI payments are made to people who are 65 or over or blind or disabled who have little or no income and limited assets. SSI recipients who also get social security benefits did not see the cost-of-living increase in both checks. That's because social security benefits count as income which reduces the SSI benefit amount.

Shoemaking to be shown

At the Fort de Chartres State Historical Site on Saturday, July 11, and Sunday, July 12, from 12 noon till 5, the age-old art of shoemaking will be exhibited.

Carefully cutting the leather by hand, stretching and forming it on the last, stitching it by hand, and pegging the shoes together with wooden pegs — by using such methods, shoes were constructed by the cobblers' hands.

Leather shoes of the 18th century differed from those of today, a spokesman said. The shoes, as these will be, were hand-made, most with buckles instead of laces.

The shoes were identical — not made specifically for the right or left foot.

The demonstration will be free to the public.

Vietnam veterans still use GI bill

Vietnam Era veterans continue to use their GI Bill for educational purposes in Illinois, even though the average age of these veterans is now nearing 35 years old.

Donald Ramsey, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Chicago, said that during fiscal year 1980, 38,678 veterans were using their benefits for training. Of this number 32,726 were in college. There were 2,421 taking other type of school training; 2,574 were taking on-the-job training and 957 were taking correspondence courses.

Of Illinois' 431,000 Vietnam Era veterans, of whom about 126,000 saw duty in Vietnam, 305,373 have used their GI Bill benefits. In addition to those in training last year, there were 2,202 Illinois service personnel taking training while on active duty.

Veterans have 10 years from date of discharge to complete training and receive benefits from the government.

BAC telecourse will review Japanese economic progress

As Japan continues its rise as an economic power, it is important for Americans to understand why, Belleville Area College history instructor Dr. Kenneth O. Luke believes.

Because of this, Luke will be the local contact for students who enroll in the two-part, nationally produced television history course "Japan: The Living Tradition" and "Japan: The Changing Tradition." The telecourse will air from 7 to 8 a.m. Tuesdays, Sept. 1 through Dec. 8 on WSIU-TV, Channels 8 and 16.

"How can you ignore the Asian theater when it has over half the population of the world?" Luke began.

"The Japanese at the present time are the most influential in the whole Asian area. Japan is the third, and pulling to be the second, industrial, economic leader in the world."

Japanese history is one of three courses that will be offered by BAC via television this fall. General Psychology and Introduction to Data Processing also are scheduled.

Luke is reserving judgment on the telecourses, although he is optimistic about their success.

"It's the first time we're doing it," he said. "Whether I'm going to like it or not, I don't know."

However, the tapes are good and the textbook to be used, "Japan, The Story of A Nation," by Edwin A. Reischauer, a leading authority on Japanese history, Luke said.

He believes the television courses will give more people an opportunity to enroll in college classes.

"We're going to be able to contact a lot more people; a lot more people can benefit from this course," Luke said, predicting his students would range from recent high school graduates to housewives to retired persons. "I think there will be a variety of everybody."

"Because of the fact we're tied so much economically to Japan, we should draw a lot," he added.

The recent television special "Shogun" has heightened interest in Japanese history, Luke said.

That period will be covered in the course, although it represents just a small segment — about 250 years — of Japan's history.

The course will follow the country from 732 to the present, Luke said.

"It's a slow, gradual process of change so there won't be a difficult transition period," he said. Students will look at the political transition period," he said. Students will look at the political, social, economic and religious structures of Japan, and be briefly introduced to the country's literature.

The programs, which were prepared by the University of Mid-America in Lincoln, Neb., will cover the feudal experience, the visual and performing arts, religion, the Meiji Period (1868-1912), the Taisho and early Showa periods, modern Japan and patterns of life.

Luke will be available in person or by phone to answer questions on the tapes as well as any others that relate to Japanese history. He will prepare tests for students who will be required to take mid-term and final examinations on the main BAC campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Tapes will be rerun from 7 to 8 p.m. Saturdays, Sept. 5 through Dec. 12. Two, half-hour tapes will be aired back-to-back.

Tapes also will be available in the BAC main campus library for students to view missed tapes, preview them or review them.

Three hours credit will be given for the course. Tuition is $17 per hour or $51, the same amount charged for on-campus classes. There is no television fee for the course.

To register for telecourses, interested students may visit the main campus and phone registration will be July 20 through Aug. 7. To register by phone, they may call 235-7900 or for information about the telecourses, may call 235-2700, extension 200.

Traffic deaths up 43%

Four traffic fatalities in the Quad-City area during June brought the total for the first six months of the year to 20, an increase of 43 percent over the 14 traffic deaths at the same time last year.

The fatalities occurred during 42 personal injury type accidents during the month, which was an increase of 100 percent over the 21 injury accidents reported in June 1980. Fifty-three persons were injured in the 42 accidents last month, compared to 43 injuries in the 21 accidents a year ago.

Statistics compiled by the Press-Record show there has been a total of 210 injury type accidents during the year thus far, accounting for a total of 310 persons injured. This compares with 179 injury accidents in which 268 persons were injured a year ago.

On this basis, the increase in June accidents this year is 11 percent, while the increase in the number of persons injured amounts to 15 percent over those of last year.

The 20 traffic fatalities during the six months of the year represents four fatalities each in four months of the year, January, April, May and June. There were two fatalities in February and two, in March for the total of 20.

Last year's traffic deaths included five in January, none in February, none in March, four in April, two in May, and three in April for the total of 14.

So far this year there has not been a single month in which there were no fatalities in the area.

Legislative road—transit inaction, but action on drugs, student loans, 'workfare,' adoptions and interest rates

Legislative sessions are difficult to evaluate immediately after their adjournment because "the fine print," the detailed impact of various bills, remains uncertain.

Some proposals are destined to be vetoed, some will be signed into law as presented to the governor, and many will be amended by the legislature.

The governor's amendatory veto power was one of the reasons many legislators did not want to risk reapportioning Congressional and Assembly districts; they felt safer with judges and commission members drawing the boundary lines.

Despite the uncertainties, and despite the difficulty in interpreting complex legislation—some proposals were not fully read even by lawmakers before being voted upon—we will undertake a few comments.

As indicated, redistricting failed to occur. While this inaction is a major flaw in the General Assembly's record, it was perhaps inevitable this time.

The trauma associated with eliminating 59 of its 177 positions was simply too much for state representatives to deal with.

Another big failure was the lack of action to bolster highway construction and repair funds and Chicago area mass transit revenue.

A special legislative session on bus and rail transit may be called. Meanwhile, a Cook County sales tax increase for mass transit is being considered, and the City of Chicago is discussing separating city routes from suburban transit lines.

Some Assembly members oppose a statewide "bail-out" of Chicago transit until there is firmer action to improve inflexible administrative rules that continue off-hour, unneeded routes, and until there is tighter control of wages that are said to total $35,000 to $40,000 annually for some drivers.

Regardless of who is doing the summing up of the January through June 1981 state legislative attainments, the listings of positive points this month have been somewhat meager.

An editorial in Monday's Press-Record related the bi-partisan pleasure over enactment of unemployment insurance revisions.

Gov. James R. Thompson praised this successful revival of the labor-management "agreed bill" process, and also mentioned:

"Truth in Taxation, HB 1048. It requires all units of local government to publish notice and hold public hearings on property tax increases expected to be above five percent."

"This is an important 'sunshine' measure which will assure that property taxpayers are made aware of proposed increases in local tax levies before they become 'locked in,'" Thompson said.

"Investment Tax Credit, HB 900. This provides, for capital investment, a tax credit on the corporate income tax property replacement tax portion of the corporate income tax. The credit is 0.5 percent in the 1982-83 fiscal year, increasing to 1 percent in 1983-84. Tax credit for manufacturers, retailers and mining is estimated to be $50 million in 1982-83," the governor reported.

"Higher Education Student Loan Authority, HB 1458. It creates a tax-exempt loan authority that will allow qualifying students at private colleges and universities, and their parents, to receive educational loans from the institutions at an interest rate several points below that charged by commercial lenders."

"Parent Loan Program, SB 1201. This allows parents of qualifying students to receive guaranteed loans through the Illinois State Scholarship Commission's loan program. Parents must be Illinois residents, and students must be enrolled in a higher education institution," Thompson said.

This new source of loans could prove highly useful, in view of the certainty that federal student loans are going to be much harder to obtain.

"Open Meetings Act, HB 411. It amends the Open Meetings Act to define procedures for closed meetings, and requires public notice of closed meetings. The bill requires minutes to be taken, and defines a meeting as "any gathering of a majority of a quorum of the members of a public body, held for the purpose of discussing public business."

The goal is to greatly reduce the instances in which public officials hold secret discussions of public matters. Citizens will be expected to file suits challenging actions taken at non-public meetings; until now, authority to sue has been limited to the state's attorney of the county and to the Illinois attorney general.

From the standpoint of officials, there is now a clearer definition of what constitutes a meeting, under the 1981 revision of the 1967 Open Meetings Act.

"Workfare, SB 648. In order to receive AFDC (aid to families with dependent children) benefits, unemployed parents and children over age 16 who are not in school must register for work with the County Department of Public Aid and perform work for a unit of local government."

"Those persons shall receive a credit against their AFDC benefits at the minimum wage rate. Failure to comply may include the loss of eligibility to receive aid for up to 90 days," the governor noted.

"Adoption, HB 985, 486 and 488. These bills provide major reform of the adoption laws of Illinois," Thompson commented.

"Guilty But Mentally Ill Plea, SB 667. This legislation makes Illinois the third state in the nation to provide for such a plea," the governor related.

Such verdicts are needed to end a loophole in which some persons have been found "innocent by reason of insanity" after committing vicious crimes; later, they could seek to prove they are sane, and gain their freedom.

Those convicted under the new legislation will be entitled to special psychiatric counseling, but can be imprisoned without the prospect of "loophole release."

"Drunk Driving, Breath Analysis, SB 457. It amends the Illinois Vehicle Code and revises procedures under the Illinois Breathalyzer Act for determining if a person is under the influence of alcohol or any other drug."

"The legislation eliminates various requirements when testing a person under 'implied consent.' It adds blood and urine to the bodily substances that may be tested. And it increases the penalty for refusing to take the test from three-month to six-month suspension of driver's license," Thompson concluded.

The previous law proved much less effective than had been hoped. The current changes have as their objective: safer streets and highways.

No full-fledged tax increases were voted by the state legislature. But, in the interest of balancing the budget, the legislature voted not to proceed with the scheduled elimination of a two-cent sales tax on purchase of large farm machinery, and on the basis of manufacturing equipment.

And the legislature took similar action against a reduction in the sales tax on property tax increases expected to be above five percent.

The governor favors both of these sales tax actions.

Illinois lawmakers also voted this year to remove interest rate limits for most credit on the corporate income tax to charge what the market will bear on autos, homes, credit card purchases, and revolving credit.

The governor and House approved allowing taxpayers to allocate up to $10 of their income tax refunds to help protect non-game species of wildlife; permitting horse race players at Illinois tracks to bet on the Kentucky Derby and other out-of-state races; banning sale of drug paraphernalia, despite expected court challenges; and imposing a mandatory prison term of four or more years on conviction of a crime involving use of a gun.

Legislators voted to give local governments veto power over proposed hazardous waste disposal sites in their communities; and decided to bar industries from disposing of wastes unless the firms can prove they cannot be recycled, neutralized, incinerated or dealt with in some other fashion than landfill burial.

Finally, the Assembly voted to reduce paid-for hospital stays by welfare patients from slightly over eight days to seven days, an approximately 14 percent cut in state payments to hospitals.

Under the bill, public aid patients for the first time would have to pay token amounts for services—$3 for each visit to a hospital or clinic, $1 for a prescription or medical supplies, and $1 for treatment at the office of a medical doctor, dentist or chiropractor.

The expressed hope is to discourage unnecessary claims. A spokesman said, "Rather than going to a hospital for a cold, people may take an aspirin or a cold tablet. Instead of seeing a doctor for a cut finger, they may choose to just buy a bandage."

Warning on certain mobile home heaters

William L. Kemnars, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has issued precautions to be taken by mobile home owners who have "Miller" brand liquid propane and natural gas furnaces.

The manufacturer is conducting a replacement program of the flue-pipe extension on model MMG "Miller" brand gas furnaces made by the Home Division of Lear-Siegler, Inc., Holland, Michigan.

"Corrosion in the flue-pipe extension and vent system may permit carbon monoxide gas to be emitted into living areas," Kemnars said. "There have been 19 deaths since 1969 associated with carbon monoxide leakage from the MMG model furnaces. They were sold exclusively for use in mobile homes either as original equipment or as replacement appliances."

Disastrous if GC would lose detective staff's skill, experience

To the Editor:

We are extremely concerned about the proposed reductions of staff in the Granite City Police Department.

We have worked closely with the police for the last several years and have always been impressed by the dedication and hard work the detectives put into each case.

They have been sincerely interested and concerned over the welfare of the victim, and have demonstrated the special skills needed to deal with this sensitive issue.

They have been more than capable in the area of arrest. It would be disastrous for your fine city to lose those men whose special expertise has been developing over the years. Their experience could never be replaced.

The need for a fine police department cannot be stressed highly enough.

Officials, please do not deny your citizens a fair crack at justice by denying them an adequately staffed police force.

Please hear our concern over this issue and reconsider the proposal to reduce the manpower of the detective division.

Area mourns for Arthur D. Roseman

To the Editor:

Granite City is mourning the loss of one of its leading citizens, Arthur D. Roseman, a fine Christian gentleman who was loved by all who knew him.

He practiced his Optimism all the time. He had a special compassion for the youth of our area.

Every day that you spent a few minutes with him, the rest of the day was brighter.

He has been a close friend for over 50 years, and the influence of his wonderful life will last forever.

Says article was inaccurate

To the Editor:

It is with extreme disgust that I sit here, having just read your July 6, 1981 article attributing myself with having made certain derogatory comments directed against the Granite City Ambulance Service.

First, I wish to point out that I did not say "It took the ambulance an awful long time to get here, in referring to an incident occurring on July 3, and as quoted in your article. My actual comment praised the quality and efficiency of our ambulance service as I told your reporter that an ambulance arrived on the scene and rendered assistance in LESS THAN FOUR MINUTES after a call was made.

This time period is vivid in my mind since I was inside the park concession stand with the gentleman who actually placed the phone call, and the injured party was the brother of one of my teammates.

Second, I am also attributed with the comment, "Once we get our police and firemen back to work..."

The inaccuracy of this printed statement is apparent by the fact that no one has yet been laid off from their job.

What I feel are the two most needed services which our city government provides for the protection of this community. These people are equally aware that I am currently associated with an effort to prevent any financial loss to members of these departments.

Finally, I have nothing but praise for the fine job my uncle, Fire Chief Don Pasente, has done in implementing a city ambulance service and for the work done by its employees.

It is for the above reasons that I take exception with your article and hope to set the record straight, before any more harm is done. The power of the press is mighty, but when abused, devastating.

Madison projects budget at $2.8 million

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

A tentative budget for the city of Madison, including revenue sharing funds, is projected at $2.8 million.

The budget for 1981-82, projected at $300,000 from the 1980-81 budget which was $3.1 million.

Most of the $300,000 deleted from the tentative budget was from the rail spur in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park which is nearly completed.

A city spokesman said the new budget will be basically the same as last year.

Although salary negotiations are still in progress it is doubtful there will be any raises granted, due to what was described as a very tight financial situation.

Alderman Thomas Gordon, chairman of the aldermanic finance committee for the city of Madison, met Tuesday evening following the city council meeting to further work on the budget for 1981-82.

The committee will meet again Monday evening and have set dates for public hearings and meetings with various department heads within the city.

On Monday, July 20 the finance committee will meet with various department heads or representatives such as the police, street and fire departments.

A public meeting has been called for Tuesday, July 21 at 6:30 p.m. in the city hall, 1529 Third St., Madison.

The tentative budget for federal revenue sharing funds in the amount of $146,000 is as follows: street and alley construction $20,000, publications $500, senior citizen's program $7,500, playground and recreation fund transfers $30,000, police auto purchases $9,000, repairs to buildings $20,000, ambulance lease and equipment purchases $10,000 and general fund transfers $50,000.

A special city council meeting has been called for Tuesday, July 28, at 7:30 p.m. to adopt the new budget.

Madison officials change positions

Casimir Krakowiecki and William Vavra changed city positions, with the approval of the Madison city council Tuesday evening.

Krakowiecki resigned as police commissioner and became the Madison Emergency Service and Disaster Agency (ESDA) director, formerly called Civil Defense.

Vavra is now a fire and police commissioner.

Krakowiecki has previously served as ESDA director for Madison.

A vacancy still exists on the Madison police and fire board.

Andy Economy, secretary for the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, announced a police eligibility exam will be given at 6:30 p.m. Friday, July 24, in the Madison city hall, 1529 Third St., Madison.

Applications may be picked up at the Madison city hall today through Thursday, July 23 and must be turned in no later than 4 p.m. on July 23.

The council approved the advertising of bids for two pieces of property in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park.

One part is commonly known as No. 4 McCasland Ave. where the Wilbur Waggoner building is located and the other is on the east side of the Waggoner property.

Complete legal descriptions and stipulations on purchase and bidding procedures appear in the legal notices section of today's paper and are also posted on the public bulletin board at the Madison City Hall.

The council accepted "with regrets" the resignation of Madison Police Officer Frank Papa.

Papa has accepted a job in private industry and will be moving out of Madison.

"Frankie (Papa) was one of our most outstanding police officers and we will miss him. He did a fine job and got along well with the public."

"It is a case of competing with private industry, a case of economics and we just can't compete with industry. We wish him all the best," Mayor Sasek said.

Bill to curb nursing home abuse passes

Reporting nursing home abuse would be required by law under legislation that passed both houses of the General Assembly and next goes to the governor's desk.

Under the proposal, nursing home employees would be required to report abuse to the Illinois Department of Public Health and their supervisor. The department would then be required to immediately investigate the complaint.

The department would have authority to take immediate action to protect the resident if the reported abuse were life or health threatening.

The department would be required to turn over suspected cases of criminal violations to a law enforcement agency and make its files available to the agency.

Adopting a policy of strict economy similar to that which was approved last week by the Community High School board, the elementary school board of education Tuesday night slashed its budget for 1931-32 approximately $19,000 below last year's operating expenses. The budget for 1931-32 calls for an expenditure of $211,600 as compared to actual expenses last year of $330,251.09. Last year's appropriations amounted to $319,363.75.

Leo M. Devany, a First Ward alderman in Venice for over 17 years, took the oath of office as acting mayor Friday night after being unanimously elected by the Venice city council. Named to serve the remaining nine months and 25 days of the term of Mayor Frank Reideberger Sr., who died last week, Devany said he will extend "a lot of privileges" to his fellow council members. Devany thus attained a goal which eluded him three years ago, when he ran for mayor and polled 502 votes to 1,464 for Reideberger and 774 for Fred Craycraft.

The Granite City Council approved Tuesday night a series of $50 per-month salary increases virtually all of the city's fulltime employees—and more than $50 for a few—following lengthy debate which blocked final passage of the new budget. A new budget of $3,812,943 for the 1971-72 fiscal year was submitted to the council during its June 23 meeting by Alderman Thomas Boker and his finance committee.

Wilson did all he could before opting for pros

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Seems a nice guy can finish first after all.

Dave Wilson, the much-beleaguered quarterback from the University of Illinois, actually did finish first Tuesday afternoon. The National Football League set up a special draft for him and the New Orleans Saints, the first team up, grabbed him quickly. Talk had been that the Saints would take Wilson, who set several Illinois, Big Ten and NCAA passing records last season. Tuesday's session made it official.

It was the highest a player had ever gone in a supplemental draft in the NFL. Wilson's talents must have greatly impressed the Saints and their new head coach Bum Phillips. The pick Tuesday took the place of their number one choice in next year's regular NFL draft.

Wilson became the subject of national controversy last season when the Big Ten banned him from play last season. The conference said that because he had played one down in his first game as a freshman in junior college in California, he was eligible for only one more season at Illinois after transferring there following two years at the JUCO. He was injured in that first junior college game and was red-shirted that season. National Junior College Athletic Association regulations allowed it. But the Big Ten said he'd played three seasons. It said he could play one season. But it had to be in 1981, not 1980.

But Wilson went to court last year and obtained a court order sport and won't be able to share in any television revenue.

Illinois has appealed the decision to the Big Ten Faculty Board and has threatened to leave the prestigious conference (of which it's a charter member) if the sanctions aren't lifted. According to Illinois officials, the integrity of the school has been ac-something to the University of Illinois. After all, the school went to bat for him. It'd be nice to see him go back to the U of I in the off-season and earn his degree. That'd prove to the almighty Big Ten that it was wrong. But even when confronted face to face with that fact in the past, the conference hasn't admitted it.

New Orleans officials are happy with their draft picks. They were happy even before the supplemental draft Tuesday. They've signed several picks already, including their "other" number one pick. All-American running back George Rogers. Getting Wilson in the same year is like extra icing on the cake. It's won't be easy for Wilson with the Saints. The reason they were able to draft him, of course, was because they finished last season with the worst record in the NFL. But with Phillips, who transformed the Houston Oilers from paties to a powerhouse, in charge, things will turn around.

The Saints already have one of the best quarterbacks in football in veteran Archie Man-

allowing him to play. He hoped to get one for this season. But he didn't. And when a judge in Peoria last week refused to allow the order to stand up for this season, Wilson had done all he could. "I wanted to play another year at Illinois," he said. "I love it here. It's been great. But after this, I feel it's best I go pro."

The transfer ordeal may be over for Wilson, but it continues for the University of Illinois. Because of the way the university handled the situation, the Big Ten has placed Illinois on probation next season. The Illinois won't be able to participate in ANY post-season events in ANY coast and that's more important than the conference itself. They're right, of course.

It'll be good for Dave Wilson. He's definite professional football player material. But whether he continues his college education is something that remains to be seen. He should, in fact, he should get his degree from Illinois. If he doesn't get a degree from somewhere, the arguments by the university that Wilson was a serious student and wasn't at the U of I just to play football will hold about as much water as a leaky bucket in the desert.

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, July 9, 1981—21

Patterson leads Trips to split

GRANITE CITY — Dan Patterson was three-for-three with two doubles and scored three runs here last night to lead Tri-City Post 113's Triplets to a 6-2 non-league victory over Glasgow Village of St. Louis at Granite City South's Sports Complex.

The game was the second of the night for the Triplets. In the first game, they lost a District 22 game to Waterloo 7-5 in eight innings (see related story below).

The victory over Glasgow Village raised Tri-City's overall record to 17-9. The loss to Waterloo lowered the Triplets' District record to 12-7.

Patterson and his teammates wasted little time in getting started against the visitors from St. Louis. With two out, Patterson doubled. That was followed by an RBI double off the bat of centerfielder Bob Ford.

In the second inning, Darren Depew led off with a walk and stole second. First baseman George Jarvis walked too. Joe Schneck followed with a single that drove in both Depew and Jarvis. Schneck then stole second and third and came home on a wild pitch. That made it 4-0 after two innings.

The Triplets made it 5-0 in the third. Patterson started the inning off with a single. He scored when the Glasgow Village second baseman couldn't come up the a grounder off the bat of Rick Daily, who advanced all the way to third on the play.

Glasgow Village got one of those runs back in the fourth inning. With one out, rightfielder Rich Moore reached base on a walk by Tri-City starter Paul Eads. He went to third on a double by Gary Masters and scored on a fielder's choice off the bat of shortstop Greg Mueller.

It looked like Glasgow Village might be staging a comeback in the fifth inning. With one out, Eads walked rightfielder Brian Bean. He went to second on an error by Tri-City catcher Schneck and scored on a single by Glasgow Village first baseman George Randemore. Moore then walked. But Eads got Masters to fly out to left field and the threat was ended.

In the Tri-City fifth inning, Patterson was again right in the middle of things. With one out, he tripled. He then scored on a ground out by Ford to the shortstop.

Tri-City Manager Eldon Warfield shook things up a bit defensively — and he may have found a combination to his liking. He moved Patterson from his regular shortstop position to third base. Schneck, who was placed at third when regular third baseman John Vrenick was sidelined with a foot injury, was moved behind the plate. Regular starting catcher Depew moved to rightfield.

The Triplets, who have been plagued with errors in last three weeks, committed only one miscue in the game

Deja Vu Tri-City squanders lead in Waterloo loss

By PETE HAYES

GRANITE CITY — Same song, new verse.

For Tri-City American Legion baseball coach Eldon Warfield, Wednesday night's 7-5 extra inning loss to District 22 foe Waterloo here was just more of the same. The Triplets were beaten by a team that, on paper, shouldn't have. But it looks like somebody forgot to tell the Triplets that baseball games aren't played on paper. They're played on the diamond.

Tri-City once again broke in top with ease and appeared on its way to an easy win. But Waterloo came clawing and scratching back to tie the game in the seventh and win it in the eighth frame.

"I don't know what it is," said Warfield. "It seems like they don't want it. They (Triplets) just don't get fired up."

The Triplets had another case of the errors. They committed four errors, including two crucial ones that allowed the tying runs to cross the plate with out in that seventh inning.

"I can't give the kids guts," said Warfield. "That's something they have or they don't have. Some of those balls that were hit were easy plays. But we weren't aggressive on them. You've got to go after them. You can't just sit back on your heels. You've got to charge the grounders."

The Triplets scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning and another in the third. And they did it without breaking a sweat. Waterloo starting pitcher Klindworth wasn't fooling them a bit.

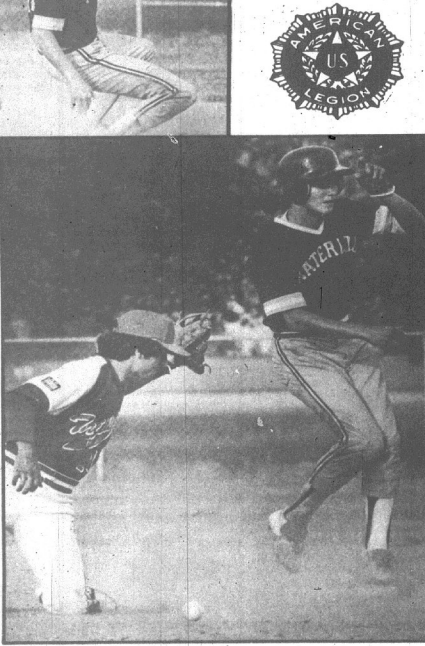

In the first, second baseman Kevin Sykes led off with a walk, went to third on a double by left fielder John Linhart and scored on a single by shortstop Danny Patterson. Linhart scored from third on a ground out by Rick Daily.

In the second inning, third baseman Schneck was hit by a pitch, advanced to third on a hit by Linhart and scored when the centerfielder couldn't come up with the ball in the outfield.

Waterloo closed the gap to 3-2 in the fifth inning. Chuck Weber led off the inning with a walk. Then Florke walked. Then Tri-City starter Keith Burton got the next two batters to ground out and appeared to have escaped harm. But Waterloo's Tom Shadowfess and Mike Roy got back-to-back singles to drive in the two runs.

Back came Tri-City. In the sixth, the Triplets scored two more to take a 5-2 lead. After catcher Darren Depew struck out leading off, first baseman George Jarvis walked and stole second. Schneck then walked. With two out, Sykes singled and both runners scored.

Then came the seventh inning. Merle Doerr led off with a walk. A single by Shadowfess sent him to third. Both scored when Dillenberg doubled. The tying run came home when a ground ball by Kreher went between his legs down the first base line.

In the eighth, Waterloo won it with two out. Doerr doubled and scored when Shadowfess tripled to deep right centerfield. Shadowfess scored when Schneck couldn't come up with the ball at third.

"A game like this hurts," said Warfield. "But it seems we've been getting hurt a lot lately."

Gundaker takes win in Late Models at T-C

By JEFF EAVES

For the Press-Record Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis led every lap to win last night's 30-lap late model feature race on the half-mile track at Tri-City Speedway here.

At the finish of the 30-lap street stock race was followed by Haas, Jim Pagel of St. Louis, Joe Medlock of Kirkwood, Mo., Tom Odum of Collinsville, Ill., Duane Whiteman of Pacific, Mo., and Lori Rowe of Granite City, Mo.

AUTO FACTS
by Harold Chitwood

An important element of the electrical system in your car is the voltage regulator. This device insures that the battery is not damaged by receiving more electrical current than it can store.

When a battery is partially discharged, the alternator works at or near its maximum capacity generating current. As the battery approaches full charge, the alternator's output must be cut to prevent damage from overcharging.

The voltage regulator automatically adjusts the charging rate. If the system is functioning properly, the charge of electric current to the battery is kept just high enough to supply ignition and the accessories without drawing off current from the battery. Tri-City dumps East Side 4-0

By TERRY MACKIN

GRANITE CITY — East
St. Louis Post 378 received good news Monday, but it was not in Granite City where it lost to the host Triplets, 4-0.

Earlier in the day, the East St. Louis players were notified that their star second baseman, Clarence Cannon, whose right finger was nearly severed in a freak accident in a league game June 29 against Cahokia, would be able to save both his finger and his baseball future.

Marissa 'Pours' it on Trips 3-2

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record
MARISSA — Tuesday was a night Eldon Warfield would just as soon dump into his gym bag of baseball memories and lock in the closet.

First, the Tri-City manager found out that he would be without the services of third baseman John Vrenick for the remainder of the District 22 season.

Vrenick jammed his foot in a collision at home plate in Monday's game against East St. Louis. He then found out that designated hitter Jeff Puryear and Ricky Buer would not be at Tuesday's game against Marissa.

Marissa ace pitcher, Kevin Pour, was to pitch against Tri-City. But Warfield still felt confident that his Triplets could overcome these obstacles.

And they almost did, but lost to host Marissa Post 172, 3-2, in a game that would have made area baseball fans forget that Bush Stadium has been vacant the last 26 days.

The Triplets lit the scoreboard first in their first inning when second baseman Kevin Sykes was tipped by a Pop foulball on the arm. He then stole second. John Linhart struck out, but Sykes hustled to second when Marissa catcher Doug Rowald dropped the ball and had throw to first. Centerfielder Bob Ford then singled sharply to center to score Sykes and give the Triplets a 1-0 lead.

Tri-City scored again in the second when first baseman George Jarvis cllobbered his first home run of the Legion season over the leftfield fence. Marissa leftfielder Mark Schulte was shaken up on the play when he ran full-speed into the fence. But after a few tense moments, Schulte remained in the game, to the approval of the loud Marissa cheering section.

But Marissa proved why it's on top of the South Division when it came storming back in the third inning. Second baseman Jim Wade led off the inning with a walk, and was sacrificed to second on a perfect bunt by Steven Hill. He was also safe on the play when Triplets first baseman George Jarvis dropped the throw from catcher Daren Depew. Centerfielder Gerry Pichford then singled, scoring Wade, and sending Hill to third. Mark Schulte then grounded out to Jarvis at first, with Hill racing home. Pour then singled off the outstretched glove of the second baseman Joe Schnefke, filling in for Vrenick, scoring Pichford to give Marissa a 2-2 lead.

The Triplets threatened to tie the score in the fourth inning when Ford led off with a single, and went to second on another single by Rick Daily. A wild pitch by Pour sent the runners to second and third with nobody out. Depew then lifted a fly ball down the right field line that John Wahlg made an excellent play just getting to, much less catching the ball and making an unbalanced perfect throw to catcher Rowald to nail Ford trying to score. Schnefke then struck to end the Triplets threat.

From then on it was all Kevin Pour, as the bearded right-hander struck out 12 Triplets, and allowed only four hits against a usually potent Tri-City offense. In fact, the show was all his until the sixth inning when Warfield had seen just about enough.

After Patterson had popped out and Ford struck out, Daily reached first on an error and then stole second. He then went to third on a wild pitch, with Depew at the plate. With a 2-4 count, Depew then ordered checking swing at a Poir curvball, and Marissa catcher Rowald appealed the swing to the base umpire, who signaled a strike.

Enter a hopping mad Eldon Warfield.

The blond-haired Triplets manager stormed from the dugout and argued nose to nose with the umpire until he finally got the boot.

"All year long I get complaints about my language, and then I get kicked out of the ballpark without causing at all," Warfield said after the game, still mad, but forcing a smile about his ejection. "That strike call was just the last straw. He was out of position the whole game and I felt that he needed to be told about it."

Even though Warfield's display of emotion did get the Triplets cheering on their bench, it was not enough to solve the fastballs of Ford and the defense of Marissa, who raised their record to 11-3 with the 3-2 victory.

But after the game, Warfield refused to blame the umpires for the defeat. "It was just a heck of a ballgame and Pour is one of the better pitchers that we've seen all year. I don't like to dwell on the umpires, but it becomes a psychological thing to the players after awhile. It's my job to keep their minds on the game."

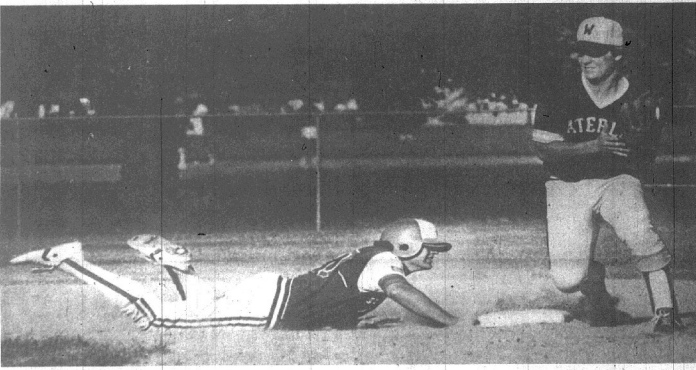

And even though he let only seven Triplets on base the entire game, Pour was not at all pleased with his effort.

"I've definitely pitched better before, but I'll take it. But our defense won this game. The play of the game was when Wahlg threw the guy out at the plate. That was the turning point," Pour said.

And even though he let only seven Triplets on base the entire game, Pour was not at all pleased with his effort.

DAN PATTERSON gets back into second base safely in last night's Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball loss to Waterloo in extra innings at South Field. The loss dropped the Triplets to 12-7 in District 22 play. In the second half of the doubleheader, Tri-City defeated Glasgow Village of St. Louis 6-2 in a non-league game.

That's the only knock on Wilson. He obviously has a lack of experience. No matter what the Big Ten says, he still only played three years of college football. And only one year on a university level team. But Phillips and the rest of the Saints staff think he's their quarterback of the future. "He's the kind of guy who throws all balls well," said Phillips. Maybe the Saints can schedule a game next year against the Big Ten champions and Wilson can QB.

Attend leadership conference

Members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club attended two of the three leadership conferences sponsored throughout the state by the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women.

At the Southern Illinois Conference, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and hosted by District 14, IFBPW, a delegation of 23 local members attended, led by Ollie Derr, Granite City BPW president.

Special guests were Aina Holland, Illinois Federation state president, and Annelson Smith of Granite City, state president-elect. During the SIUE conference, the opening devotion was offered by the Rev. Charlotte Zachary, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison and a member of the Granite City club.

Mrs. Holland spoke briefly to the group, urging members to show their leadership through action, rather than position.

Two hours of workshops, devoted to various interests and divisions of the BPW organization, followed her remarks.

Local participants and the club areas they represented, included:

Sharon Beckett, Foundation; Barbara Young and Pearl Kennerly, Young Careerists; Nina Limbaugh, program; Charlotte Johnson and Rosalie Stern, membership; Ruth Milhouse and Sylvia Wright, legislation; Wilma Larger, finance; Joy

Wofford, treasurer; and Ann Graklanoff, public relations. District 14 Director Lois Walton of Granite City was official host at the conference.

Other District 14 officers from the local club taking part were Mrs. Stern, recording secretary, Pauline Weir, finance chairman, and LaVelle Stephens, chaplain.

A humorous moment occurred during the SIUE meeting when Carolyn Frye, a Granite City member, arrived in costume.

She was portraying "Mama Bird," a Sesame Street type character, and introduced a smaller stuffed version of the bird character to be used by district clubs as a token of fellowship and goodwill.

Miss Smith, Mrs. Stern and Gina Einig, local public relations chairman, representing the Granite City BPW Club, also attended the Northern Illinois Conference held last week in Joliet.

Fines distributed by circuit clerk

Granite City has received $9,385 in fines from the office of Circuit Clerk Willard Portell, while Madison has received $545 and Venice received $415.

In a distribution of fines announced by Portell Wednesday, Collinsville received the largest amount, $15,700.

Fines received by Pontoon Beach amounted to $885, while Alton received $12,920.

The fine distribution included $21,085 in fines for overweight by the state and $430 in fines by the Department of Conservation.

The total countywide distribution amounted to $158,075, Portell said.

Memoriams 32

IN LOVING memory of ORAL SEXTON, July 12, 1976. Fond memories linger around him dear. Sadly missed by Wife, Children, Grandchildren and all who loved him. 32 7 9

IN MEMORY OF EDWARD F. SKINNER who passed away July 7, 1970. They say time heals all sorrow, and he seems to have forgotten, but time has only proved, how much we miss you yet. — Sadly missed by wife Pearl and Bill and Grandchildren. 32 7 9

IN MEMORY OF PATRICIA FERRIS MEYER, July 5, 1975. Six years have passed since you went away, to it probably seems more like a day. We would never recall you from your home above, even though memories of you are filled with love. With his help we've learned to face this world with a smile. We'll see you again when we've gone our last mile. Mother, Daughter, Brothers and Sisters. 32 7 9

IN MEMORY OF CLIFFORD BARR on his birthday, July 12, 1981. Love you, you were to love you. To have you for a grandson was a special treat. You went away, you could not say goodbye. I sat and thought of the sad day then I began to cry. They say the pain grows less, I don't think that is true for my heart seems almost broken each time I think of you. We loved you dearly but God loved you more. He came and took you to the home beyond the blue. I know you will be happy there with Jesus, until I clasp your hand when we will be together in that beautiful land. — Sadly missed by Grandpa and Grandma and all who loved him. 32 7 9

Adams new chief of Long Lake Volunteer Department

W. Lee Adams was installed Monday night as chief of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, replacing Earl Arnold, who served as chief for the last three years. Arnold announced he stepped down for health reasons.

In accepting the chief's position, Adams said he would "try to maintain the high standards of community service shown in the department's 30-year history."

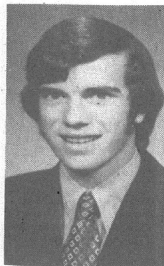

Adams, 47, has been a resident of Nameoki Township for 16 years and a firefighter for 14 years. He is a certified firefighter in structure and has served two years as captain and the last four years as assistant fire chief of the department.

At the installation, Adams informed members that "with the receipt of the new triple combination fire truck in August or September, this department will be one step ahead of any new construction in this area attracted by the recent sewer program."

Others installed for one year terms were Don Wiggins, president; Richard McIntosh, vice-president; Marvin Ribbing, secretary; Charles "Skip" Parmerly, treasurer; Dan Kreher, assistant fire chief; Dave Johnson, assistant chief of rescue, and Tom Boushard, chaplain.

DAN KREHER
Assistant chief

Department trustees elected were Al Burton, Rich Wall and Dale Bowles.

It was announced that the department currently has a few openings for qualified shift-working residents and for junior firefighters, ages 16 to 21.

The new assistant chief, Kreher, 27, has been affiliated with the fire department for 20 years, having started as a Cub Scout in the department-sponsored troop. He advanced to the scout rank of eagle and at age 16 was among the first young men in the state admitted to a junior firefighting program. He held numerous offices in the junior department before advancing to the senior department at age 21. He has served several offices in the senior department, including firefighting instructor.

Kreher already has attended 500 fire and emergency calls. His election as assistant chief of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department makes him one of the youngest men in the state to have advanced from the junior firefighting program to that high a rank.

Democrat day at state fair

The annual Democrat Day in Springfield will be Thursday, Aug. 13, the opening weekend of the Illinois State Fair. It was announced by Chris Costoff, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

The local hospitality room will be in the Springfield Hilton, located in downtown Springfield at 717 East Adams St.

Music will be furnished by Joey James and his orchestra starting at 4 p.m. Tickets are $10 each.

The State Democrat Central Committee as well as State Fair officials are sending invitations to all Illinois officeholders and notables at the federal level, according to Sam W. Wolf, secretary of the Madison County Democrat Committee.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Wolf at 1508 Johnson Road.

Costoff and Wolf suggested that motel reservations and tickets be obtained early.

Marine Pfc. Charles F. Hinkle Jr., son of Charles F. Hinkle and Wanda S. Gonzalez, both of Route One, Granite City, participated in desert training at the Marine Corps Air-Ground Combat Center, Twenty-nine Palms, Calif.

He is a member of the 1st Battalion, 11th Marines, based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The training included live-firing the battalion's 105 and 155mm howitzers in support of combat training with the 1st Marines during day and night operations. They also practiced moving their artillery pieces while maintaining a combat ready posture enroute to new emplacements.

WEAPON AND OTHER CHARGES ARE FILED

She also was booked for having no firearm owner identification card and for transporting a keg containing beer and a glass containing beer. Robert S. Benda, 24, of Pine Street was arrested for possessing beer. Charges of fighting were filed against Nesbit and Debra Ann Karl, 18, of the 1800 block of August Street.

Most favor reductions in federal budget

More than two-thirds of area residents are in favor of reducing the size of the federal budget, but a clear majority does not want budget cuts in the form of reduced Social Security benefits to early retirees.

These are among the latest findings of a periodic public opinion survey conducted by the Opinion Research Division of Fleishman-Hillard, Inc., a public relations firm with offices in St. Louis, Kansas City and New York.

"The results of this survey clearly show that while most people are supportive of federal budget cuts, they are uncomfortable with cutbacks in the Social Security system," said Lisa Richter. She added: "For example, Social Security and Medicaid are programs that most people want the federal government to continue to support. Most people, however, want the government to cut back on the food stamp program."

"There is no consensus on how the federal budget should deal with unemployment benefits or aid for dependent children."

Asked if they favored a reduction of the federal budget, 71 percent of the respondents were in favor of reduction, 10 percent were opposed and 19 percent were undecided.

Asked which federal programs should be reduced, only 28 percent supported a reduction of Social Security benefits for early retirees. Regarding other federal programs, 58 percent were in favor of reduced expenditures on the food stamp program; 49 percent supported cuts in unemployment benefits; 43 percent wanted reductions in welfare (aid for dependent children) payments; and 35 percent were in favor of trimming the Medicaid health care program.

Conversely, 62 percent of the people surveyed were against reducing Social Security benefits for early retirees; 29 percent opposed budget cuts on the food stamp program; 40 percent opposed reductions in unemployment compensation; 44 percent opposed cuts in welfare payments; and 53 percent opposed Medicaid cutbacks.

Chouteau halts limb pickups

Chouteau Township Highway Commissioner Bud Eberhardt announces the tree limb pickups in the township area will be eliminated Friday, July 10. The courtesy service was provided this year during the rainy season because it was not possible to mow weeds and repair highways, Eberhardt added.

He now plans to resume the repair work and does not have enough employees to collect tree limbs.

State grants 'certain' for sewer structure, equipment

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
Residents of Madison County Special Service Area One—the Nemo, Keokuk, Chouteau and Venice townships sanitary sewer system—need not be fearful of county governmental actions, County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields said last week.

As an illustration that the county is on the side of the sewer district residents," he noted, steps have been taken to obtain state grants for 75 percent of the funds needed to construct a $150,000 permanent office and maintenance building and to install a $157,500 generator and monitoring system.

Both sewer-related grants are "virtually certain" to be approved, Fields predicted; as a consequence, only 25 percent of such unavoidable expenditures will be borne by the property owners.

Although a good case could be made that the new monthly sewer maintenance and treatment charge of $15.80 is a bargain compared to many other communities, it will be kept to the barest minimum necessary to operate the sewer district—and can be cut when finances permit, Fields told the Press-Record.

The rate was changed from $11.80 to $15.80, effective July 1, in a 17-7 County Board vote June 17 over objections by board members from the Quad-City area.

Through no fault of the residents and no fault of the local County Board members who make up the special sewer committee, numerous occurrences have caused setbacks for the sewer program and its finances, the county auditor said.

Harry E. Hartman, the sewer district attorney, died, resulting in the committee losing his expertise before some of the planned actions were completed.

Walter Sparks, former sewer committee chairman, is no longer on the County Board, further compounding the loss of Hartman; the committee had to "change horses in the middle of the stream" in two of its key leadership and advisory posts.

With weather a factor, the timing of the sewer installations and connections prevented the collection of maintenance-treatment fees for several months after major operating and administrative costs had begun.

Substantially fewer users—3,400—than originally projected have connected onto the sewer system.

The cost of obtaining primary and secondary treatment before sewage is discharged into the Mississippi River—such treatment is required by law—proved to be larger than had been estimated.

Costs like the treatment fee to the City of Granite City must be paid by the county government (the special service area is not the kind of governmental entity empowered to function on its own) regardless of whether or not users have paid their sewer maintenance-treatment bills.

Collection losses are running higher than expected (eight percent instead of five percent), and the steps required to reduce this would also involve a cost.

Such negative factors are cited by Fields as causing a current imbalance between the revenue and expenditures.

Because the sewer district is not a free-standing governmental agency, it cannot borrow funds from banks or similar sources.

Instead, the county loaned the special service area $97,500 from the county government's motor fuel tax fund reserves. On June 17, repayment of that sum was authorized and $300,000 was loaned to the sewer district from the county's federal aid matching fund.

Madison County Board Chairman
Nelson Hagnauer commented June 17 that the sewer district was initially described as a service that "would not cost the county a dime."

Hagnauer added that he still believes it will cost nothing, and that it will prove of great benefit to the Quad-Cities and the county through improving community life and attracting new residents, commerce and jobs.

Auditor Fields said he shares this positive view, and pointed out that, as additional businesses and homes are built in the sewer service area, the base that supports governmental services will expand.

Louis Whitsell resigned as sewer committee chairman June 24 in opposition to the monthly rate increase and to other developments.

Among the points assailed was the County Board's decision to "pay the contractor out of the monthly maintenance rate. He should be paid for construction work from the bond issue and state grant money," Whitsell asserted.

He also voiced fear that the County Board's finance committee will

Federation delegates to fight 'dismantling' of Illinois schools

Irene Orr, president of the Southwest Area Council of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, has announced that 15 area teachers will attend the 65th annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers July 5-10 in Denver, Colo.

The teachers selected as delegates and alternates are:
Belleville Local 673, Joanne Rempel; Granite
City Local 743, Shirley Stoll, Loretta Woolbright, Ginger
Canders and Bill Watson;
East St. Louis Local 1220,
LaVondia M. Neeley, Silas Bender and Vivian Anderson.

Cahokia Local 1272, Dale Goldsmith, Terry Osia, Linda Goldsmith, Bonnie Osia and Marti Geppert; Illinois Federation of Teachers, Ed Geppert; and Small Local Caucus, Carol Russell.

joined by several hundred Illinois teachers at the Denver site to form the second largest state delegation at the 580-000-member union's national

delegates from across the country are expected to be in attendance.

One of the major convention issues will be to "create a plan of action to thwart 'several serious threats to public education.'"

The convention is expected to formulate a plan to stop President Ronald Reagan's proposed educational budget cuts, and plans will be made to attempt to stop the national tuition tax credit proposal.

According to Irene Orr, president of the Southwest Area Council of the Illinois Federation of Teachers,
"The Reagan budget cuts, coupled with Government James Thompson's proposed educational budget cuts, will create a disaster for Illinois schools this coming fall."

"The Federation will continue its efforts to prevent the dismantling of public education in Illinois."

Douglas-Lincoln campaign recalled

Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln, a murder trial of Winnebago Indians, and Mark Twain in Chicago are among the subjects of the most recent journal of the Illinois State Historical Society, a quarterly publication.

culminated in the famous 1858 senatorial race between Douglas and Lincoln are the subject of the lead article in the current magazine issue.
Douglas was hindered in his re-election bid by opposition forces within the Buchanan administration.
Robert W. Johansson of the University of Illinois discusses the problems encountered by both Douglas and Lincoln in seeking the nomination of their respective parties.

Douglas won the U.S.
Senate race in Illinois, but two years later lost the presidency to Lincoln.

Author Martin Zanger's research of an 1820 Winnebago murder case shows the different concepts of justice and revenge between the native Americans and the authorities who conducted the trial, held in Southern Illinois.

The case involved three Indians who were accused of killing two soldiers at Fort Armstrong, near Rock Island.

The Winnebagoes
languished in a St. Clair County jail for several months prior to the trial, and their plight eventually attracted the attention of Secretary of War John C.

Calhoun.

Mark Twain's lecture tours in Chicago are the subject of an article by Trygve Thoreson of Evanston. This lighthearted look at America's foremost humorist in the late 1800s is intended to entertain as well as inform readers about the city Twain called "always a novelty." Thoreson includes an account of Twain's role in founding the Chicago Press Club.

Plan expansion of state prisons

Last week's proposal would utilize $6.7 million in capital development bond funds in the 1981-82 fiscal year to:

- Provide $2.5 million to plan for construction of a new 750-bed medium-security institution at Vienna, an institution that would employ 425 persons with a yearly payroll in excess of $6.5 million. The new facility would cost $46 million when completed. It would be erected on property already owned by the state which houses the minimum security Vienna Correctional Center.
- The new institution would be located just southeast of the present center. Bids could be taken in 1982, with completion in 1984.

Wheat used for feeding thousands of valuations cut

By RONALD CORNWELL
County Farm Adviser

Swine producers should keep a sharp eye on the record wheat crop that is expected in the United States this year. If the market responds as expected to a record wheat crop, swine producers may be able to purchase wheat at prices equal to or lower than prices for corn.

The decision to substitute wheat in a swine ration should be based on economics. If a pound of wheat is cheaper than a pound of corn, consider substitution.

To reduce palatability problems, substitute no more than 10 percent of the grain portion of the ration with wheat.

Wheat should be coarsely ground. Grinding wheat finely may result in a ration that doesn't flow well in a self-feeder and may cause protein intake and performance.

When you substitute wheat pound for pound for corn, wheat rations have higher crude protein than corn rations. So, for every 100 pounds of wheat used to replace corn, reduce the protein supplement 2 to 3 part of the plant and progressing upward to the top leaves.

The plants normally bear a normal crop of fruit. However, you will probably have a greater loss of fruit through the season, from sunburning conditions.

Lots of fertilizer and hot weather will produce the quality of grass you often see, on golf course greens.

Meyer Zoysia will thrive during the summer season when you fertilize and cut close. Established zoysia lawns should be fertilized every June with a double application of lawn fertilizer.

New plantings of Zoysia should be fertilized every month, starting in June, to promote the steady growth you expect. For the monthly application, use a lawn fertilizer and follow the bag recommendations.

Close cutting favors zoysia while it weakens bluegrass and most weeds. Special mowers are often used to achieve a golf course cut of 1/4 to 1/2 inch long.

Frequent cutting can easily produce a putting green effect during the summer months.

Shade and cold weather prevent zoysia from becoming the sweetheart of every home owner. Zoysia does not grow well in shade, and turns brown (dormant) in the winter.

Park district plans trip to Nashville

The Granite City Park District is planning its annual trip to Nashville, Tenn., the weekend of Aug. 21, 22 and 23. The price of the trip is determined by the number of persons staying in each room.

The cost of the trip will include the bus transportation, two nights at the motel, the ticket for Opryland and a ticket for the Grand Ole Opry. This year will attend the 9:30 p.m. show on Friday evening.

Saturday morning will include a tour of stars' homes before going to Opryland to spend the day. Late Saturday evening the group will have dinner at a newly opened restaurant in an 1883 warehouse. The bus will leave Nashville at 10 a.m. Sunday and return to Wilson Park at approximately 6 p.m. with a stop in between for a meal.

The cost of the bus transportation is $31 per person, the ticket to Opryland is $2.25, the Grand Ole Opry ticket is $8 and the balance depends on the number staying in the motel rooms.

Taxation may not be "Topic A" for everyone but it is near the top of the list of property owners' concerns. Thousands each year are dismayed to see their proposed assessments rise, and then are gratified to see them cut.

The reductions are not necessarily actual cutbacks in real estate valuation, but rather a county-level trimming of the figures proposed by township assessors.

Who are the villains, if any, and who are the heroes? It is difficult to say. But unquestionably, to paraphrase the song, there is "a whole lot of shaking going on" in upward and downward revisions of various property valuations.

The shaking of the status quo frightens and angers many taxpayers, who want the status quo enough to resist change and impartiality.

Some of the assessment changes stem from economic inflation and others relate to allegations by property owners that they are being treated unfairly, compared to others.

For the Quad-City area alone, more than 3,500 assessment changes were announced June 25 by the Board of Review. Similar revisions took place elsewhere in Madison County.

Many of these were "Board of Review" changes, which are township-set property assessments after owners protested and hearings were conducted by the three-member board.

Many others in the June 25 list, more than 1,000 Quad-City area revisions, were "changes by certificate of error," a procedure that has drawn extensive criticism for its frequent use during the 1970s.

A procedural defect of the utilization of certificates was that it went on behind the scenes, leaving the unaware of the actual assessment levels on which various individuals and companies paid their taxes.

A subsequent legislative act requires both the certificate procedure and hearing and review results to be publicized, instead of just the hearings and reviews.

Continually, the certificate practice continues, but information on what is happening is relayed through several county offices and to the Third Circuit Court for implementation, and then is published in a legal notice.

Among those made aware of the process as it is taking place are such officials as the county clerk, county treasurer and county auditor (county legal adviser and prosecutor), some of

Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell sued the Madison County Board on Thursday for more space to house his mammoth filing and record-keeping operations.

The quarters are too jammed to efficiently and safely do the work, he told the Press-Record.

Daniel J. Stack, attorney for the veteran court official, sought a writ of mandamus requiring the county to "purchase or lease the additional adequate space necessary for the proper performance of the circuit court clerk's duties and obligations and to pay his costs and reasonable attorney fees associated with the lawsuit."

The court clerical staff operates a traffic, family, probate, child support, criminal court divisions at Edwardsville, the county seat, as well as Manning court offices in Granite City, Collinsville, Alton, Wood River and East Alton.

Portell, a former Granite Cityan who resides in Collinsville, cites Illinois state law, which requires the county government to "provide proper rooms and offices, and for the repair thereof, for the accommodation of the Circuit Court of the county and for the clerks for such court."

"And to provide suitable furnishings for such rooms and offices, and to furnish fireproof safes and the repair thereof for the offices of the clerks of the Circuit Court. The courtrooms and furnishings thereof shall meet with reasonable standards prescribed by the Supreme Court of Illinois."

As indicated by the vast numbers, people from all walks of life and all cross-sections of the county avail themselves of tax relief through assessment adjustments.

A state study of Madison County certificates of error sought to focus on what might be striking examples, rather than typical cases.

It was for this reason that some real estate owners were spotlighted by state agents, and others (perhaps with identical circumstances) were not discussed or interviewed by the Illinois Law Enforcement Department's Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI).

David Lauer of the DCI said in his report that the agents looked for potential cases of official misconduct. They found none.

The investigation took place May 14 through Dec. 3, 1979. Madison County grand juries in 1980 and 1981 made findings of no wrongdoing. The state's Attorney Donald Weber thinks a full-time employee and a part-time employee ought to be replaced.

Lauer relates that "on May 14, 1979, Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas Byron requested that an investigation be conducted of the Madison County tax assessment program."

"Byron stated that various (possible) irregularities in the use of certificates of error had begun a review of error, and the actual taxes paid by the property owner for the tax years under examination."

"Both township assessors gave their professional opinions as to whether or not the assessment reductions on particular pieces of property in their respective townships were warranted."

"In instances where the township assessors felt that the reduction in assessment was warranted, the DCI agents normally deleted those properties from examination."

"The agents then began interviews of various owners whose property was under examination."

"The agents next interviewed a former employee of the county assessment office, the current assistant supervisor of assessments; former and present members of the Board of Review; and the supervisor of assessments."

"Many certificates issued (possibly) were not in conformance with Chapter 120, Section 526, of the Illinois Revised Statutes."

"There also is the question of the propriety of the issuance of a certificate of error, reducing the assessment on a property, without proper documentation of a physical inspection of the property," Lauer said in his summary.

Portell sues for more office space

The suit also notes an Illinois statute specifying that "the necessary rooms and office furniture, the proper vaults or other means for the safekeeping of the archives of the respective offices, shall be provided for by several clerks... by the county boards of their respective counties, and the costs thereof paid out of the county treasury."

The circuit clerk relates that on May 28, June 12 and July 27, 1980, and other times he requested increased office space either in the Courthouse or in any other building which could be leased or bought within the county.

It is contended that the county has funds with which adequate office space could be provided, through tax collections and through circuit court clerk fees. Portell says that in the Dec. 1, 1979, to Nov. 30, 1980, county fiscal year, he turned in fees totaling $377,909 to the county general fund as "profits" from the work of his staff.

The defendants added that the defendants were and still are aware of the fact that the IV-D program—under which the circuit clerk assists the state in making collections—totaling $312,687 from May 1980 to April 1981.

"The clerk received a fee amounting to $33,496 and, for said period, the county was required to pay only $28,582, with a match by the federal and state governments in the amount of $85,687 for expenditures."

The defendants were and still are aware that the county could obtain more office space for the circuit clerk's office at a rate of one-half the actual costs, due to the reimbursement that is available through the IV-D program.

Clerk Portell alleges that:

—There is not adequate storage for the proper keeping of all records.

—The space presently provided is so limited that it constitutes a fire hazard, due to the difficulty in ingress and egress in the various work places for the deputy clerks.

—The present space is so limited there is not adequate room for the proper discharge of the duties and obligations of the clerks of the court.

He asserts he has in the past done everything within his authority to alleviate the space problem through the negotiation and obtaining of office space as satellite circuit clerk offices in Alton, Collinsville, East Alton, Granite City and Wood River.

With the defendants allegedly refusing to provide "reasonable and adequate office space and vault storage space," Portell says it is "extremely difficult and is becoming impossible to properly maintain the court records and documents and evidence, which it is his duty to do, pursuant to the laws of this state."

—Employees are forced to work under conditions which are unhealthy, inadequate for the proper performance of their duties, and which constitute a fire hazard.

He said that the court records which would be encountered by the necessary rapid exit of such employees.

Those named in the suit are the 29 members of the County Board and specifically Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and the building committee and its chairman, Charles Bode.

persuade the board to make the final payment to the contractor before there is a full agreement. What Smith would remedy what Whitsell regards as still unresolved problems associated with the installation work.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith obtained board approval at the mid-June session for himself, the county auditor, the sewer committee chairman and the finance committee chairman to negotiate a settlement with the contractor of up to half of $391,331 owed at present to the contractor.

Smith stressed that the county has been paying 20 percent annual interest on the amount it owes the contractor. He warned that each passing month has been costing thousands of dollars that can never be recovered.

Whitsell and other committee members have voiced concern that Smith may prevail on the board to take a variety of actions regarded by Quad-Cityans as detrimental to the sewer program.

It was only after an impassioned plea by Morris Miles of the sewer committee members of the finance committee to the sewer committee's membership of Quad-Cityans some board members from outside the Quad-City area voiced displeasure with the work and viewpoints of the sewer committee.

Fields said last week that while Smith is outspoken, some change of course was essential in order for the sewer program to regain sound footing.

He said that the committee members are not basically political in nature, and pointed out that Republican Smith praised Democrat Fields at the June 24 sewer committee meeting as seeking to act in the best interest of all parties.

As of May 31, the special service area's construction fund had assets of $999,901 and liabilities of $842,400 for a balance of $157,501.

Its operating fund showed assets of $25,833 and liabilities of $69,753 for a deficit of $43,920.

Annual flow of both operating costs and income is approaching a half-million dollars in the sewer service area, a prime reason the unit is incorporated area surrounding Granite City.

Unemployment insurance law praised by both parties

Two guest comments on the newly-approved law revising Illinois unemployment compensation:

State Representative Sam Wolf (Democrat) of Granite City supported the new unemployment insurance compromise, which was worked out in a three-day meeting between labor and employer representatives. It makes basic changes in unemployment insurance saving more than $256 million and cutting the state's debt to the federal government.

The compromise that most workers will continue to receive most of the previous benefits, while making some changes, including a switch from a two-yearly to an annual adjustment in benefits. The state currently owes the federal government $1.4 billion and would have owed it more than $2 billion by the end of this year if the changes had not been made. The state now will be able to reduce the anticipated amount of borrowing for next spring, and eventually end the borrowing altogether and balance the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund.

The compromise is not perfect, but it is the best possible solution that is fair to all sides.

Governor James R. Thompson

(Republican)—The main achievements of the January-June session of the Illinois General Assembly were providing economic stability during recessionary times and reforming the state's unemployment insurance system.

While this legislature did not resolve all of the critical problems facing our state, it did approve a number of pieces of legislation that will go toward improving life in Illinois.

I believe the most substantial bill passed by the legislature was Senate Bill 1081, the much-needed reform of the unemployment insurance system.

The bill was the result of hard, nose-to-nose bargaining by business and labor leaders, with overwhelming bi-partisan support in the Assembly. It will put Illinois on a sound program of paying off its $1.4 billion debt to the federal government and getting rid of some of the financially draining benefits that have plagued the system.

I believe this is the beginning of reinstating the "agreed bill" process that we must use for reaching a compromise on sensitive issues that separate business and labor.

Maria Leith to direct fiesta

Maria Esperanza Leith will serve as program director for the annual September fiesta, sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission.

Mrs. Leith's appointment was announced at last week's meeting of the commission's auxiliary group in the MHC hall, 1001 Spruce St.

Rehearsals for the Sept. 19 fiesta currently are being held at the hall each Monday and Thursday night at 7 p.m. Other key leaders on the fiesta planning committee, include Rose Grim, costumes, and Linda Garcia, kitchen coordinator, who asked for volunteers to serve the traditional Mexican food.

Lisa Fensterman, president, conducted the business session and led the invocation and pledge to the flag.

A club album, recording photographs and clippings, now is being prepared, it was reported by Julie Barnes, historian.

A special meeting of the commission will take place at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 12, to discuss bar rules, Mrs. Fensterman reported.

In the social hour, Nancy Diekmann was a prize and refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostesses, Ruth Elliott, Della Jones and Vicki Stittch.

We spend millions of dollars to educate and train our community's young people...the finest "crop" of all we produce.

Then we watch them steal away to other cities, other states, where they believe opportunities are greater.

Why can't WE, right here at home, offer them the career futures they seek in distant places? Why not try to keep our home-raised talent at home?

Our stores, factories and service firms could offer lots more job opportunities if they did more business. They'd HAVE more business quickly, if we would quit buying items and services out of town.

New business offers inventories of homes

A new business designed to aid homeowners in rebuilding after fires, tornadoes, burglaries or other property loss, opened last week in Pontoon Beach.

L & M Security Research Agency, 3981 Lake Drive, is prepared to assist all homeowners in conducting a full inventory of their homes and cataloging all items of value, including their serial numbers and photographs of the items.

Confidential listings of items of value are kept at the office, but have no names of addresses on them, only code numbers. The list of names and addresses is kept in a safe deposit box, so a theft from the business office will not provide burglars with addresses where valuables are kept.

The owners of the new business are Randy Lamb and Richard McIntosh, both local law enforcement officers. Together, they have 23 years of law enforcement experience in this area.

Lamb works with the St. Louis Major Case Squad and McIntosh is a trained fire investigator, in addition to their regular law enforcement duties. Both have helped families try to rebuild after burglaries, fires and other tragedies and have found that the vast majority of families are unprepared. Few have lists of items of value or serial numbers for their televisions, stereos and other equipment.

"What we do is go into a customer's house and room by room, we inventory everything of value, taking photographs and listing serial numbers. When we are done, we keep a complete inventory on file which the homeowner can obtain should he ever have a fire, burglary or other property loss," Lamb explained.

"We also participate in Operation Identification and will engrave the owner's driver's license number on valuable items which do not have a serial number," he added.

A full home inventory will involve a listing of about 17 pages of valuables, they have discovered. "People just do not realize how many valuable items they have in their homes. While we are conducting the inventory, we ask the owner what his television, stereo and other items would cost to replace today, not what he paid for it."

"Ninety percent of the time, the homeowner will find when the total value of items in his home is determined that he is underinsured and we have had customers take a copy of our insurance to determine how much insurance they need," McIntosh explained.

After a full home inventory, if a homeowner experiences a burglary, fire or disaster, he need only obtain a copy of the inventory from L & M Security Research and begin the process of comparing items left in the home with the list to determine what was stolen and the value and serial numbers of the missing items.

"I have had a fire at my home and I know it destroys everything and it is nearly an impossible job to list everything that was destroyed. I also found after the fire that I was about $10,000 underinsured and it cost me," Lamb said.

Having a complete listing and photograph of valuable items is a good aid to the people themselves and to the law enforcement agencies. It also can be helpful in recovering items which can be identified through serial numbers, Lamb and McIntosh said.

They said their basic price for an inventory of any four rooms is $99.95, plus $15 for 10 photographs. Additional rooms are $10 each and additional photographs requested by the homeowner are $1.25 each.

For a 12-room house, the cost for a full inventory would be $164 or less, they estimated. There is a $20 annual fee for records maintenance, which includes an updating any time the homeowner makes a major purchase or disposes of a piece of property, they explained.

The homeowner may, at any time, obtain his records from the L & M office and the maintenance charge will end, they pledged.

They said that with each inventory, the homeowner is given a written pledge binding the company and its employees to secrecy about the contents of each house. Records can only be released by the written permission of the homeowner, they said.

Lamb and McIntosh say they hope to expand the service in the near future to include computerized listing of serial numbers, by types of items such as refrigerators, television sets, stereos and other categories. Law enforcement agencies recovering stolen items then will be urged to call the company to check if the serial number matches any of those registered. The owner then can be notified that a police agency has recovered his property.

Cahokia manager's protest forfeit

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Tri-City Manager Eldon Warfield, stood on the mound, studying the signs of the catcher. He wound up, then unleashed a belt-high fastball.

The echo from the aluminum bat silenced the fans still waiting in the bleachers. They then cheered as the leftfielder made a shoe-string catch.

It was the only excitement of the evening for the Triplets fans, but no one was complaining.

Cahokia Post 784, which had just defeated a hot Belleville team the night before, was no place in sight, and forfeited the contest to the Triplets. Final score: Triplets 7, Cahokia 0.

"We'll take them any way we can," said Warfield, as he and his players entertained the few fans still hoping for an evening of baseball. "I'm really surprised they have been playing pretty good baseball lately."

And Warfield wasn't the only manager that was in for a surprise Thursday night.

At 7:30, Manager Billy McIntyre and the rest of the Cahokia Team strolled onto the Granite City Sports Complex, expecting to play an 8 p.m. game. The field was empty. The umpires had gone home. There was to be no game.

McIntyre, contacted at his home Friday, was "damned."

"I have already protested the game to Wayne Wirz (District 22 Baseball Chairman). I was not notified that Granite City's games had been moved to 6 p.m."

"Hell, we're too far up in the standings to be forfeiting ballgames. I think that we should play the game over," McIntyre said.

Warfield said that he has they didn't show up. We were there to play ball, and they weren't. To me, that's a forfeit."

"A team has to be on top of things when they are in a league race. Right now, I think I'd go to the diamond even if a game was rained out. You just can't take any chances."

Warfield said that he has not been contacted by league officials about a protest being filed by McIntyre.

"I guess we'll just have to wait and see, but right now all I'm concerned about is East St. Louis Monday night. It is too late in the season and the schedule is too tight to be rescheduling games."

The victory gave Tri-City an 11-3 record in the North Division, one game behind Alton. The loss dropped Cahokia's record to 9-7.

At least for now.

Steamers name Trost Blues strengthen defense

ST. LOUIS, MO. — The St. Louis Steamers of the Major Indoor Soccer League have named a native St. Louisian to direct the team as their new head coach. Al Trost, 32, signed a two-year contract with the Steamers. The contract will run through the 1982-83 season with an option for renewal the following year.

Trost, who joins the Steamers from the Seattle Sounders of the North American Soccer League, thus concludes one of the most impressive and significant playing careers in the history of the American soccer player. He began his professional playing career in 1973 with the St. Louis Stars, where he performed as a midfielder for five seasons.

He accompanied the team to California as a member of the Surf in 1978 and was traded to Seattle in 1979. He's been with Seattle ever since. In 9 outdoor seasons, he's scored 139 goals and accounted for 15 assists.

He has also played indoor soccer for the New York Arrows of the MISL in 1979-80 and for Seattle this past season. His two year indoor statistics total 8 goals and 16 assists.

Trost began his playing career in the CYC program in the late 1950's. In his formative years, he played at parishes including Holy Rosary, St. Engelbert's, and St. Philip Neri. He went on to play for four years at Prep South, graduating in 1967 and accepting a scholarship to play at St. Louis University.

It was at St. Louis University that Al Trost became one of the greatest soccer players ever developed in the St. Louis area. In both his junior and senior years, he was awarded the prestigious Robert B. Hermann Trophy, signifying the best collegiate soccer player in the United States. Both of those Billiken teams won the NCAA Championship, and Trost was twice named to the All American Squad.

In 1972 he was a member of the United States Olympic Team that competed in Munich. That team was coached by the present coach at SIU-Edwardsville, Bob Gueller. In 1976, he captained the United States World Cup Team.

While playing for the Stars in St. Louis, Trost embarked on a separate career coaching. He was the head mentor at McCluer North High School for five seasons, and, in 1975, his team captured the Missouri State High School Championship.

Trost, his wife Elina, and sons Tim, 5, and Eric, 2, will move back to St. Louis. The family is expecting its fifth member in late August.

Steamers director Jerry Clinton, Chairman of the club's special selection committee, said, "We had a number of recommendations for Al Trost. We visited last week and had a fine exchange of ideas. I can say for all of us connected with the club's special selection committee, we're very impressed."

Ken Kerner, the club's Chief Executive Officer, echoed Clinton's sentiments. "We've been receiving requests from all over," Kerner said, "but we kept hearing Al Trost's name again and again. That's why he was the first candidate interviewed."

Trost commented, "I've played professional indoor soccer two seasons and I'm really enthusiastic about it. In fact, long ago I nursed the hope that it would be recognized as a professional sport."

"It will be a challenge, but I share the feeling of many individuals that the Americanization of indoor soccer is of utmost importance. I know the majority of our players and it's a fine squad."

After signing with the Steamers, Trost expressed a desire to aid the further development of soccer in the St. Louis area. He will contribute personal funds in the amount of $1,000.00 per year, $500.00 going to St. Louis University for a scholarship bearing his name and $500.00 to the CYC of St. Louis. Clinton announced that the Steamers organization will match those amounts and contribute to both funds.

Steamer President Stan Musial, a member of the screening committee along with Clinton, Kerner, Jack Garagani, and General Manager Mike Sanger, expressed the feelings of the club's Board of Directors. "We all feel we're moving forward with the addition of Al Trost to the Steamer organization. His record in all of soccer, both amateur and professional, is impeccable."

ST. LOUIS — What Emile Francis wants, he gets. Even if it takes him five years to do it.

The St. Louis Blues acquired defenseman Scott Campbell Friday in a five-player trade with the Winnipeg Jets Friday in an attempt to bolster their lacking defense.

Campbell, the Blues No. 1 pick and the ninth overall selection in the 1977 draft, was traded along with left-winger John Markell to the Blues in exchange for defenseman Bryan Maxwell, back-up goalie Ed Staniowski, and left-winger Paul MacLean.

Campbell, who is 6-foot-2 and weighs 215 pounds, was hindered by a shoulder injury last year and played in only 14 games for the Jets, scoring one goal and 14 assists. He collected 55 minutes in penalties.

Markell, who played with the Blues last year with four goals and ten assists. They also obtained Staniowski, who posted a 10-3-3 record and had a 4.28 goals against average in 19 games with the Blues as a backup to Liut. MacLean played last season at Tulsa in the Central Hockey League.

In exchange, the Jets obtained Maxwell, who played in 40 games for the Blues last year with four goals and ten assists. They also obtained Staniowski, who posted a 10-3-3 record and had a 4.28 goals against average in 19 games with the Blues as a backup to Liut. MacLean played last season at Tulsa in the Central Hockey League.

Spencer receives Brundage award

URBANA — Recipients of 1981-82 Avery Brundage Scholarships have been announced by the University of Illinois.

The 28 winners, recognized for academic and athletic excellence, include Granite City's Karen Spencer of 3204 Newell Dr. in softball, soccer and volleyball.

The Brundage scholarship fund was established in 1974 with an initial gift of $343,000 from the late Avery Brundage, honorary president of the International Olympic Committee and a U. of I. alumnus.

Each award carries a grant of $800. The winners are in the top quarter of their undergraduate college or in good standing in their graduate or professional program. They also have shown special ability in athletics.

Many of the athletes have competed in intramurals or on community teams. Others have worked independently to qualify for national and international competitions. The awards are not a substitute for grants-in-aid, and intercollegiate sports participation is not a factor in choosing the winners.

Some of the Brundage scholars have taught, coached, worked at summer camps or officiated at amateur meets.

The 1981-82 winners include undergraduate, graduate, dentistry, medicine and law students from all three campuses of the university. Ten of the winners are women; eighteen are men. Nine have won Brundage scholarships before.

The winners' sports include hockey, volleyball, track and field, racquetball, softball, basketball, cross country, canoeing, rowing, rugby, soccer, judo, tennis, scuba diving, swimming, sailing, fencing, golf, gymnastics, table tennis, billiards, cross-country skiing and water skiing.

The Avery Brundage Scholarship fund committee was composed of faculty and students from all three U. of I. campuses.

Propose 1982 as year of the eagle

The National Wildlife Federation has called on the nation to observe 1982 as the "Year of the Eagle" to commemorate the 200th anniversary of selection of the bald eagle as the national symbol.

The bald eagle, now an endangered species throughout most of the U.S., was adopted as the central figure of the great seal of the United States by the second Continental Congress on June 20, 1782, six years after a committee consisting of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson was named to recommend an official seal for the newly-independent country.

"By next June, the bald eagle will have served as our national bird and symbol for 200 years," said Dr. Jay D. Hair, executive vice president of the NWF. "An eagle bicentennial will remind all Americans of our wildlife heritage, a priceless natural resource that we must manage wisely if it is to survive."

In Good Spirits!
by GEORGE CREWS

Here's a new word to add to your vocabulary: oenologist. Not really new at all, the term is derived from the Greek words, which mean wine, and oinos, which means wine. Every reputable winery employs an oenologist who has, in most cases, virtually total responsibility for both winery and raising vines. He is a technician in the sense, whose knowledge of wine is certified by a national diploma, inasmuch as it falls to the oenologist to make the most delicate analysis on the grape. He must have more than a nodding acquaintance with chemistry, and his laboratory is as much a part of the winery as the vineyard. And, of course, one of the first qualifications of an oenologist is to be a devoted oenophile... a person who loves wine and spends a great deal of time and attention on it.

Chester Andersen, wife, named new Pontoon Beach citizens of year

Chester Andersen, 65, a resident of Pontoon Beach since 1942, and his wife, Leora, were honored as Pontoon Beach's Citizens of the Year by the Pontoon Beach Lions' Club last week.

The honor was bestowed during the club's fifth annual installation and community awards dinner at the Lions Den II, 901 Lake Drive.

Retiring President David Schermer told the audience that Andersen, a former county constable, has been active in the community for many years, helped organize the Stallings School PTA and led the movement for the first routed school buses here.

He was a charter member of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department and was an original member of the former Pontoon Beach Athletic Club in the early 1950s. He also served as chairman of a committee which offered free movies for children on Saturday afternoons in the village.

Andersen, a World War II Army veteran, served as the first Pontoon Beach Street Department, using his own trucks and equipment and giving many hours of volunteer services to the village.

"He has helped many friends, neighbors and senior citizens by cleaning off driveways, towing automobiles from ditches and the like," Schermer noted in saying that he feels Andersen has earned the right to be a Citizen of the Year. The Andersens reside at 4205 Bruene Drive.

Andersen and his wife received a standing ovation from the audience when he received the award, obviously choked with emotion.

Citizen of the Year awards have been given by the club annually since 1976. Past winners are Otto and Corne Kreher, John and Irene Karlechik, Andy and Joan Bukovac, Chester and Thelma Dean and Harry and Pauline Briggs.

The club also announced its Lion of the Year, Phil Vaughn. He is the fifth Pontoon Beach Lion to earn that award. Previous winners have been Vince Thorpe, Chester E. Dean, Donald D. Patrick and Bobby J. Durbin.

New officers installed at the meeting were Bob Barton, president; David R. Schermer, immediate past president; Frank L. Cramer, vice-president; Bobby J. Durbin, second vice-president; Michael J. Przygoda, third vice-president; Donald Patrick, executive secretary-treasurer; Phillip W. Vaughn, Lion tamer, and Walter R. Morgan, tall twister.

Several checks were presented by the club to representatives of charitable organizations as part of the club's continuing efforts to support worthwhile programs.

A $1,000 check was given to C.A. "Bud" MacMillan, director of Co-ordinated Youth Services, to help support the Youth Community Service Center, and another $1,000 check was presented to Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry A. Briggs to help support senior citizen activities in the township.

A $500 check was presented to Jim Whit, chairman of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the American Red Cross, a $350 check was given to Paul Mihalich, district chairman of the United Way, and a $300 check was presented to Dave Ferrite, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area YMCA, to support their various activities.

Another $250 check was donated to Rosemarie Lindner, public relations director for Hospice of Madison County. Village departments receiving gifts from the club included the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, which received a $1,400 water pump, and the police department, which was given eight bullet-proof vests. Fire Chief Earl Arnold and Police Chief Rosewell Bennett Jr., accepted the gifts. The Long Lake Junior Firemen also were honored and Chief Brian Johnson received a plaque for his men.

Plaques also were given to the Pontoon Beach Village Board, represented by Village Clerk Mary Warren, the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach, represented by President Nancy Goodwin, and the District Governor, who also received a pair of Lion book ends from the club.

Schermer said in his final speech as president that he is proud of the club's achievements in the past year. Membership declined from 33 to 27, but the 27 remaining have all been active members. "I have to feel we have grown," he said. One loss deeply felt was the death of Chester Dean, who will be missed, Schermer said.

Schermer reviewed an impressive record of meetings, zone meetings, board of directors meetings and other events club members have attended outside of the village. He said the club also made impressive showings during the Candy Day, Give-a-Can Day and other fund-raising projects.

He said many Lions on the district and state level may not know where Pontoon Beach is, but, "It is quite obvious that the Pontoon Beach club is a very active club," Schermer said.

Accomplishments of which Schermer said he is very proud are the providing of TWIX telephones for the deaf, transferring three pairs of eyes to St. Louis to help the blind, providing a hearing aid free to one needy youth, donating $5,000 to the Illinois Eye Research Institute in a five-year commitment, winning the CARE Award for the highest per-capita donation of any club, supporting Camp Lion, donating to the fight against cerebral palsy, helping the March of Dimes and the Granite City Association for Crippled Children and many others.

He estimated the club has donated $34,000 to help those less fortunate in the past year. "Now that's production. Our motto is, 'We serve.' I thank the Lions of Pontoon Beach for the opportunity of accomplishments on our record. We have served," he concluded.

Governor Fenton said he is proud of the accomplishments of the Pontoon Beach club and of the parade of checks received during the International Lions convention at Phoenix, Ariz., including those from the local club.

He said that if you multiply the accomplishments of the local club by the 47 clubs in the district, then multiply that by the number of districts in the state and the 50 states in the country, Lions can be seen in its true proportions.

"We do a whole lot and we are proud of what we do. We appreciate it," Fenton said.

President-elect Bob Barton was installed and told the club he is proud to be a Pontoon Beach Lion and is looking forward to heading the club in the next year.

He reminded the club of a statement made by General George Patton who said teamwork can either be like a wet noodle, which accomplishes nothing, or pulling together on it, which moves it. He encouraged the club members to pull together in the next year for even greater accomplishments.

Girls State representative Tracy Champion, 1219 Washington Ave., Madison, requested to visit the Illinois National Guard headquarters and the adjutant general's office because of her interest in military affairs, and to hear first-hand from the adjutant general how the Guard functions within the state governmental system.

The Girls State program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. The program includes a one-week session in which young high school age women go to MacMurray College, Jacksonville, to learn how state government functions and operates.

New fee for Venice yard sales

A $3 fee for garage, rummage and yard sales will soon be imposed in Venice, it was decided at the Venice City Council meeting last week. Mayor Tyrone Echols told the council members that there is nothing in the city ordinances which governs these types of sales.

In lieu of imposing a $15 fee, valid for one year, the council unanimously passed an ordinance for the $3 fee per day. The fee will be effective July 10.

The council also agreed to purchase two police cars from Dave Croft Dodge, the lowest bidder for the cars. The "police package" cars will cost $12,550 after trading the old police cars.

Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. expressed concerns of a warranty, so the city would not be plagued with the same maintenance problems that have been faced in the past.

The trade-in cars had a warranty of 12,000 miles or one year, which ever came first, according to Chief of Police Farris Smith. It was indicated that this also will apply for the new cars.

After examining the possibility of buying the cars through the state purchasing pool, it was determined that the bids received, from private dealers were less expensive.

It was announced that the authorizing agent for the Illinois municipal retirement fund will be City Clerk Duane Georff.

The council members also decided that some city employees will receive a holiday from work Friday, July 3, in observance of the July 4 celebration.

Mayor Echols regrettably informed the council members that there is no money in the city budget for pay raises at this time. He also noted that many area governmental bodies are in financial distress.

Flowers & Gifts

by Ron Kelih

The most beautiful member of the Rosaceae family, the rose (Rosa), originated in Asia Minor. It is one of the oldest flowers in cultivation and was grown 5,000 years ago in the ancient gardens of western Asia and north-eastern Africa. Roses have always been the symbolic emblem of beauty, youth and love. They have been mentioned in poetic works since the dawn of civilization. In ancient times, a rose was attached to the ceiling of council chambers as an indication that everyone present was sworn to secrecy. It was called "sub-rosa," or under the rose. The "roselle," which decorates ceilings of rooms today, is an unconscious use of this ancient emblem of secrecy.

Roses are one of the most popular flowers to communicate, feeling. Whether at a funeral or a wedding their beauty expresses love and respect, sometimes better than words. Come to BETTY AND BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833 for all your floral needs. We get roses twice weekly from Four Seasons in Litchfield, Illinois by refrigerated truck. Hours: 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

FLOWER TIP: Rose prices vary according to the season, availability and demand.
